Five Star Weekly! That's Journal's New Magazine Supplement

Adding to the numerous interesting and informative features of The Journal, the newest and most original magazine supplement ever published on the Pacific coast will make its appearance Saturday, Jan. 18, with your copy of The Journal. It is to be known as the Five Star Weekly and it will be delivered to you as a part of this newspaper without extra charge.

For months a great organization in San Francisco has been going full steam ahead, preparing for the first and subsequent issues of Five Star Weekly. Backed by ample finances and a staff of some of the most able men and women writers of the nation, Five Star Weekly will provide Journal readers with a weekly news magazine containing features of interest to every member of the household. Its publishers promise fascinating, human interest stories illustrated with graphic pictures covering local and world events.

The editor of Five Star Weekly is Arthur J. Ritchie, former New York and Cleveland editor of NEA Service, former editorial director of the Scripps League of Newspapers at Seattle and for many years actively identified with the advertising agency business.

The art director is Milton Monroe, nationally known illustrator, with a background of years in newspaper art work in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Before coming with Five Star Weekly, Mr. Monroe was art director of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Jean Rendlen, one of the staff writers on Five Star Weekly, is a former feature writer, columnist and movie reviewer for Hearst; former columnist and writer for Vanderbilt papers; author of many novels and short stories; former editor of the Florida Banker, and publisher of a newspaper of her own. Writing for Five Star Weekly a new type of women's serial, Miss Rendlen will feature food and fashions in a department called "The Family Next Door."

John Richard Finch, one of the Five Star Weekly staff writers, has worked on newspapers of three continents. A war correspondent in China in 1927 during the stirring days of the Nanking incident, and the fighting in Shanghai, he was wounded "getting the news" in the native city of Chapei. He managed a newspaper in Japan and has worked on papers in Hawaii, China and Europe.

Brewster Adams, who will write a weekly column for Five Star Weekly exclusively, for 25 years has been a Baptist preacher in Reno, Nev. He is the "father confessor" of America's divorcees and a brilliant writer.

Gilbert Wright, the son of the novelist, Harold Bell Wright, will pen for Five Star Weekly a series of "Tales of the Sea."

Ella Lehr, who will write about foods and other things of interest in the realm of woman, has spent a lifetime in home economics work, and is recognized as one of the outstanding experts on the Pacific coast. Before joining the Five Star Weekly, she was home economics editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin. She will write under the name of Virginia Ross.

Miss Donna Risher, who will cover Hollywood for Five Star Weekly, has worked for years on newspapers from coast to coast. She went to Hollywood from the New York World-Telegram where she made a name for herself with her colorful feature stories.

Five Star Weekly considers itself fortunate in the fashion and pattern department in landing MISCHA, probably the outstanding style designer on the Pacific coast. These Mischa patterns will be designed exclusively for Five Star Weekly readers. The pattern service itself will be different, made of heavy craft paper, a pattern for every piece and rolled for mailing.

Paul Norton, who will write the children's page for Five Star Weekly, is editor of the children's page of the San Jose Mercury-Herald, acknowledged to be one of the best children's pages west of the Mississippi river.

Laurie Pratt, who will write on astrology for Five Star, has a wide background of experiences in charting the lives of famous individuals. She is the author of extensive works dealing with the astrological sciences. Her predictions in the Lindbergh case and on Huey Long aroused nationwide interest.

There will be a weekly building page handled with the co-operation of the federal housing commission.

La Habra Ticket Game Raided; 11 Jailed

OFFICERS NAB THREE MEN, 8 WOMEN

All Fail To Make Bail On Felony Charges; Arraignment Set

La Habra's chain ticket game came to a stop with an abrupt thud last night.

Today eight women and three men were in the county jail awaiting arraignment on charges of violating section 337a of the penal code, a felony. There are in reality two charges against each defendant, one being violation of the section and the other being conspiracy to carry on the violation.

Fail to Make Bail

The 11 defendants had not been able to make bail early this afternoon. They will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison at 9 a. m. Jan. 21. S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney, is their counsel.

Sheriff Logan Jackson's deputies, cooperating with Police Chief Archie Collins of La Habra, raided the chain ticket headquarters at 238 West Central street, La Habra, at 7:45 p. m. yesterday. They arrested Everett M. Jackson, 42, former La Habra automobile dealer and said to be the chief promoter of the game.

Others Jailed

Others in the group taken to jail are Mrs. Nora Foster, 31, stenographer, of Huntington Park;

Meet the County Reporters

Who writes about parties and meetings and fires from Garden Grove?

Continuing a weekly series in which correspondents are introduced, this week we present Genevieve Smith Fording, who "covers" the Garden Grove district.

Mrs. Fording has had considerable experience as a newspaper correspondent, having started such work in 1931. She is a graduate of Garden Grove schools, and attended Santa Ana Junior college in the first class at that institution.

For many years she has been affiliated with the Eastern Star and the Federated Women's clubs, and at present is recording secretary for the Garden Grove Woman's Civic club.

What Are You Doing to Clothe This Waif?

By MARY STODDARD

Can you mothers who have cuddled a baby close in your arms, smoothed your lips along a tiny child's silky head and stilled its bewildered cries, repulse the tugging of Orange county's little New Year's waif, Genevieve Gonzales?

Some of you have already responded to the dire need of this little Mexican child. No sooner had the call for help gone out yesterday than telephones began ringing for Mary Stoddard. "I have a nightdress, which I intended to send a friend for her baby, but I want Genevieve to have it," phoned one woman.

"My baby has outgrown his little stockings and booties. Some of them are quite good, yet, and if you'll call for them that little Mexican child can have them," said another young mother.

Money Donated

One man, father of three fine boys, himself, brought in a small sum of money for the child. "I can't give much, but I'd like to see that baby get at least a fair start in life."

This poor child has been born without a tummey-band or nightie of her own. Her mother was removed from a sanitarium for the arrival of the baby and will return there for months more of treatment. Her father, John Gonzales, is barely able to make a living for his six other children. Her grandmother has given her a home, but the grandmother has no clothing for the baby. The child has no milk.

GREAT BLAST KILLS FOUR

Lost Spectacles Brings Ruin To Fire Dept., Injures Officials

PENDLETON, Ind., Jan. 10. (AP) The fourth victim of a terrific gas explosion was dug from the fire-scorched wreckage of the Pendleton town hall by salvage workers early today.

The body was that of Irvin Taylor, Pendleton tool-maker, who dropped his glasses in an abandoned cistern under the building last night and asked Town Marshal Garland Brookbank to help look for them. When the marshal lit a match, accumulated gas let loose with a blast that wrecked the two-story brick hall.

The explosion injured five members of the newly-elected town board holding its first meeting, and buried the town's fire equipment. Flames raged unchecked until firemen arrived from Anderson, eight miles away. Thirteen persons were known to have been injured.

Of the four known dead, the only other body identified was that of Frank Wapienik, 24, of East Chicago, Ind., trusty at the nearby state reformatory. Two other blackened bodies pulled from the debris were believed those of transients allowed the shelter of the basement on cold nights.

ARREST SIX IN HUGE HOLDUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Seven men, suspected as members of the gang which held up an armored car and stole $427,000 outside the Rubelice corporation in Brooklyn in August, 1934, were arrested today. The police refused to disclose the names of six of the men in custody.

TWELVE HURT IN CUBAN BOMBINGS

2000 Soldiers Patrol Havana Streets On Election Day

HAVANA, Jan. 10. (AP)—A dozen persons were wounded in a series of Santiago bomb explosions today, a noisy prelude to the election of a president and other constitutional officers by Cuba's 2,000,000 voters.

The bombs exploded before the polls opened in the seaport city of Santiago. One damaged the office of Dr. Cesar Comacho Covani, Marionista party leader.

Agent Wounded

A political agent was brought to Havana, suffering grave bullet wounds, from Bauta in the nearby province of Pinar del Rio.

Police seized a package containing four bombs in a downtown cafe and promptly closed all such places, usually open until dawn.

More than 2000 soldiers and sailors took posts at interior points. All police, soldiers, sailors and firemen throughout the island went on "continuous duty."

Not since 1928 have the people had a hand in the choice of their chief executive. In that year Gerardo Machado went into the presidency unopposed. Five years later he fled the island and the first step of the "revolution" was completed.

Three Candidates

Three presidential candidates were up for election.

Miguel Mariano Gomez, son of a former president of Cuba, was generally considered to be the strongest candidate.

Gen. Mario G. Menocal, a former president, had the backing of his own party, the Menocalistas.

The third candidate, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, former provisional president, conducted no active campaign.

HOEPPELS ASK NEW TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Arguments on the plea of Representative John Hoeppel (D., Cal.) and his son, Charles, for a new trial were heard today in the District of Columbia supreme court.

A jury convicted them a month ago of conspiring to sell an appointment to the West Point Military academy for $1000. The sale was alleged to have been made to James W. Ives, young Baltimore athlete. Neither has been sentenced, pending disposition of the motion for a new trail.

Mary Pickford Can't Re-marry Before Monday

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10. (AP) Even if she wants to, Mary Pickford can't be married before Monday, the county clerk said today.

Miss Pickford's divorce from Douglas Fairbanks was granted at 5 p. m., Jan. 10, 1935. But the decree was not filed and recorded until the afternoon of the following day. In California law, a year's interlocutory period is required, which will give Miss Pickford her legal freedom tomorrow afternoon.

Over the week-end, Miss Pickford will be an unmarried woman, but not entirely free to re-marry.

COUNTY G.O.P. LOAD GUNS

Dinner Rally Called For Monday; Bull May Be Speaker

President Roosevelt's message to congress apparently gave the Republicans just the cue they wanted for launching their own campaign. This appeared evident today as Howard Irwin, Fullerton, chairman of the Republican county central committee, issued a call for a dinner rally to be staged at Hughes cafe in Fullerton. The affair will take place Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Irwin's announcement said Republican leaders have been called together as a result of President Roosevelt's address on the state of the nation. In that speech, it was recalled today, Mr. Roosevelt said something about taking the government back to Washington.

Bull May Speak

The announcement of the meeting said it had been called "following county-wide protests regarding the President's address to congress."

Mr. Irwin, who is secretary of the Southern California Republican committee, said the principal speaker Monday night probably will be Ingall W. Bull, chairman of both the Los Angeles county and Southern California committees.

Sundquist to Talk

The recently formed Orange county Republican assembly, affiliated with the California Republican assembly, will be discussed by E. M. Sundquist of Santa Ana, temporary chairman. This organization has been formed with the idea of making definite campaign plans.

The Monday night dinner undoubtedly will serve as the opening gun of the Republican campaign in Orange county and the beginning of organization for it. Similar meetings will be held in other Southland counties. Out of these events a definite plan of campaign is expected to crystalize.

Constitution Is Issue

"The Republican party feels obligated to uphold the United States constitution," Mr. Irwin said today. "With the aid of the United States supreme court and a new congress, this may be accomplished, in spite of efforts of the President and the 'brain trust' to nullify constitutional government.

"Orange county Republicans desire an instructed delegation to the national convention—a delegation not instructed to support any fantastic cause or to advance the political ambitions of any individual, but a delegation instructed to go on record as favoring the restoration of constitutional government to the United States of America."

GRANT DELAY IN WHITNEY INDICTMENT

Trial On Ouster Will Be Held Previous To Criminal Hearing

County Recorder Justice Whitney will not answer a grand jury indictment charging her with misappropriation of county funds until after trial of proceedings to remove her from office.

This appeared certain this morning in superior court when the time for answering the indictment was postponed by Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel at the request of Miss Whitney's attorney, S. B. Kaufman.

Mr. Kaufman said he and his client desired to have the time for making the answer postponed until the ouster proceedings had been disposed of. Trial of the latter case is scheduled for Jan. 27. The time for answering the indictment was continued to Feb. 7.

Observers at the courthouse recalled that the grand jury is believed to be desirous of the ouster matter being tried first, and that if Miss Whitney is removed from office the grand jury will not feel desirous of the indictment being pressed.

The ouster case is a civil one in which the penalty is removal from office. The indictment is a criminal case carrying with it a state prison term. Miss Whitney would not be eligible for probation. Both cases are based on similar charges, namely that Miss Whitney appropriated county funds to her own use, that she failed to file reports with the auditor on the date due, and that she used funds from one month to complete deposits for the previous month in which she assertedly was short. Miss Whitney's accounts

GASOLINE IN DROP HERE

Price Cut Two Cents By Majors And One By Independents

Gasoline prices in Santa Ana dropped 2 cents on all major lines, as first rumblings of what might develop into a new gas price war were heard here.

The drop this morning followed a 2-cent reduction in prices on all grades announced yesterday afternoon by the Standard Oil company. Hancock and Union were next to fall in line, early this morning, with similar reductions, followed by the other major companies.

First grade gasoline as a result of the cut will sell here for 13½ cents a gallon, instead of the 15½ cent price in effect previously. Second grade gasoline dropped from 13½ to 11½ cents.

Independent companies announced a reduction of 1 cent in price, to meet the challenge of the major companies. They formerly had been selling their second grade gasoline at 12½ cents.

Orders for the drop came from central offices of the companies, and apply only to the Southern California district, it was stated. It was said that the drop was caused by the competitive pressure of independent companies in underselling the major concerns, which had formed a set price alliance.

Efforts will be made to raise the price to former levels as soon as practicable, company officials were quoted as saying today.

PAYMENT BY CASH WINS, 355-59

Bill Backed By Three Veterans Groups Is Sent To Senate

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—A crushing house majority today passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing immediate cash payment of the bonus to nearly 3,500,000 World war veterans. Its immediate cost was estimated variously from $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

The vote on passage was announced by Speaker Byrns as 355 to 59, more than the two-thirds required to pass legislation over a presidential veto.

The final ballot was taken before galleries packed with spectators.

Backed by Vets

The bill was backed by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

Prompt consideration of the cash bonus issue by the senate finance committee was promised by Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.)

Unless pressure for the house bill is too great, the committee was considered likely to amend the measure or vote out a less liberal one of its own, realizing President Roosevelt is opposed to full payment at this time.

Democratic Leader Robinson has conferred with the President and was believed to have conveyed the executive's attitude to all bonus camps whose representatives have been conferring in secret for several days.

NAB FILIPINO IN GIRL 'THREAT'

Brozlio Aguino, 27-year-old Filipino of Anaheim, was arrested by Santa Ana police yesterday when a 14-year-old junior high school girl reported he had assertedly threatened her with death unless she agreed to run away to Los Angeles and marry him.

Yesterday afternoon the child went to one of her teachers, Miss Amy Reid, and told her she was afraid to go home alone and that Aguino was outside waiting for her in a car. Miss Reid telephoned officers who found the Filipino waiting in his car. When asked what he was doing, he assertedly told the officers he was waiting to take the child home.

He was taken to the police station for questioning where he denied any intentions of harming the girl. Officers booked him at the county jail on charges of vagrancy.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 10.—I kinda believe I'll be for these 12 little capitals. It would keep the lobbyists scattered and give the rest of us fellers a chance to see our senators, at least on election day. Most of us are sure nuf short a little capital.

I don't guess they are figgerin' on having 12 little Presidents. Probably they could use the extra vice presidents the rail road companies have. We might even get a President; they seem to be a little long on them too.

Park Survey Looms for Santa Ana

Steps probably will be taken in the near future by the Santa Ana forestry board to inaugurate a comprehensive study of the Santa Ana park situation with a view toward establishing a permanent attitude toward the park question by the city, it was learned today by The Journal.

Assistance of George W. Braydon, Pasadena, expert with the National Park and Recreational commission, will be sought for the survey, it was stated, first letters to Mr. Braydon being composed today.

It is felt by members of the board that a study showing comparative use of differently located parks, and types of parks, and a plan for a unified park system for the city is vitally necessary to Santa Ana's growth.

Mr. Braydon has helped in outlining and establishing park systems in many parts of California and other states, and is considered one of the nation's outstanding authorities on the question.

First steps toward determining the type of park believed most beneficial in Santa Ana were taken yesterday by Dale Griggs, park superintendent; Sid Lowry, engineer in charge of Santiago creek park construction, and Henry Englert, Works Progress administration foreman on the Santiago project.

The group made an inspection tour of many outstanding parks, including those in Arroyo Seco, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and the Exposition park, inspecting outdoor bowling green and playground construction preliminary to the installation of such equipment in the new Santiago park.

Work at the Santiago site already has progressed rapidly on the installation of tennis courts and construction of a baseball diamond. A space has been alloted for the bowling green, which has been secured largely through the efforts of the Santa Ana 20-30 club in sponsoring it.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR

City Dinner Program Told

Definite assurance that music for the Santa Ana community dinner to be held Jan. 21 at the American Legion hall would be furnished by the newly organized Works Progress administration concert orchestra was furnished today by Director Leon H. Eckles.

Mr. Eckles said that the administration would furnish an orchestra of from 20 to 24 pieces for the interim music, to be played from 6:30 p. m. to 7 p. m., when the dinner will officially get under way.

In addition to the orchestral music, special features will be provided by the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, which will provide a roisterous welcome to the 400 diners; by Pianist Art Cannon, and by a whole-hearted community sing, to be led by Frank Pierce.

Tickets for the dinner, planned as a goodwill community get-together, are going fast, John Estes, in charge of the advance sales, said today. Every expectation is held that the entire amount will be subscribed days before the date set for the dinner.

All service clubs and civic organizations of the community will be represented, under the general leadership of the chamber of commerce, acting as sponsor for the affair. Arrangements are in the hands of a committee headed by Rex Kennedy.

WALLACE ADVANCES 'SURPLUS' PLAN TO REPLACE AAA PROGRAM

LEADER RAPS OPPONENTS OF AAA

Roosevelt Emphatic In Soil Conservation, Control Policies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Formulation of a new farm plan for using 50,000,000 surplus acres "to serve the long time welfare of the farmer, the consumer and the voiceless land," was projected to farm leaders today by Secretary Wallace.

He told agricultural leaders "we believe" such a program can be devised, but did not give his own views on the method.

Flays Obstructionists

Wallace spoke to approximately 100 agricultural representatives summoned by the New Deal for "advice on what to do about the demolished AAA. He lashed "obstructionists to the future welfare of agriculture," flayed "special interests" that "would be delighted to give 6-cent cotton, 30-cent wheat, 5-cent lard, 8-cent tobacco to foreign nations," and asserted:

"I believe the AAA has steadily been directed to the general welfare and that now we have an opportunity to draft another bill which I hope will be just as decisively in the farm interests as the AAA and which will make an even stronger appeal to the consumers of the nation as being sound and fair."

After hearing Wallace, the farmers went to another auditorium in another building where discussions, headed by their own chairmen, were begun. Wallace did not attend this session.

F. D. R. Speaks Up

President Roosevelt, at his first farm discussion since AAA's death, asserted his responsibility to treat farming as a national problem and re-emphasized his determination for soil conservation and control of production as the answer to the farming situation.

In a return to uncontrolled crop production, he saw a new race for short sighted plowing of the vast Middle West area, a return of the dust storms and an eventual desert land in this rich region.

Mr. Roosevelt proposed no specific plan and carefully avoided discussion of any specific farm plan to meet the situation resulting from death of AAA.

The tin soldiers that Mayor Sperber of Hersbruck, Germany, has been making since 1910 now number 26,000 and weigh 600 pounds.

COUNTY TAKES 'HOT' MONEY

$10 In Bribe Case Grabbed

Orange county's treasury yesterday came into possession of $10 in "hot money."

The two five-dollar bills assertedly were offered as a bribe to Henry T. Walsworth of the agricultural commissioner's office by S. Muraoka, Los Angeles Japanese. Mr. Walsworth did not take the money. Ethelbert Johnson, deputy in the agricultural commissioner's office, assertedly saw the bribe offer, and signed the complaint against Mr. Muroaka, as complaining witness.

Mr. Muraoka was tried on a charge of offering a bribe to Mr. Walsworth to give false testimony and withold true testimony in a case against S. Uchida, about to be filed in the Anaheim justice court. Superior Judge G. K. Scovel held that the evidence was insufficient to convict Mr. Muraoka and the case was dismissed several weeks ago.

However, the five-dollar bills, used as evidence, remained to be disposed of. Although Mr. Muraoka pleaded not guilty to the charge of offering the bribe, he has indicated that he is in a receptive mood as far as the money is concerned, according to Assistant District Attorney James E. Davis. The authorities do not seem disposed to feel he is entitled to it.

Late Wednesday Judge Scovel signed an order which said that title to the money is no longer vested in Mr. Muraoka, and that the complaining witness denies right to it. And so Judge Scovel ordered the "hot money" delivered to the county auditor to become part of the assets of the county.

F. D. R. EXTENDS DOLLAR POWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—President Roosevelt today extended for another year his power to shift the dollar's gold content within a 10 per cent bracket, and continued in effect the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

The present dollar is 59.06 per cent of the pre-devaluation gold content. Mr. Roosevelt's action today continued for another year his power to lower that content to 50 per cent of the old level or increase it to 60 per cent. Both this power and the stabilization fund would have expired Jan. 30.

SHERIFFS, AIDES OF SOUTHLAND SEE SHIRLEY TEMPLE

Led by Sheriff Logan Jackson, four members of his department last night journeyed to Palm Springs where they attended a joint meeting of representatives from the sheriff's offices of the six southern counties. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the crime situation in Southern California and to further a spirit of cooperation between the various sheriffs' offices.

The meeting, sponsored by the Riverside County Peace Officers' association, was attended by representatives from the various district attorneys' offices in Southern California, judges of the superior courts, and justices of the peace.

The program included dances and songs by the child actress, Shirley Temple. Another feature on the program was an exhibition of marksmanship by the pistol team from the Los Angeles sheriff's office.

Those who attended from Santa Ana were Sheriff Jackson, Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean, Chief Jailor Budge Lacy, and Deputies Herman Zabel and G. F. McKelvey.

You mothers and fathers who were able to prepare comfort and security for your children when they were babies, can you let another child, as sweet and fresh as your own were, cry for fresh, pure milk? Can you let her grow cold from lack of warm blankets? Can you let her clean, brown body become sore and chaffed for want of mild soaps and soft powders?

No, of course, you can't. That's why this appeal for aid is being made. You'll want to help this baby. Clothing, food orders or small sums of money can be left in Mary Stoddard's care at The Journal office, 117 East Fifth street. You can call 3600 and someone will collect your donations.

MORGAN HITS CHARGES IN INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—J. P. Morgan whaled away today at a senator's charge that his big banking house brought on a foreign exchange panic in 1915 in order to force Woodrow Wilson to permit loans to the Allies.

Putting away his much-used pipe the better to make his point, he sternly told the senate munitions committee his firm "never did such a thing in our lives."

Forced Wilson

Repeatedly Senator Clark (D.-Mo.) contended it was plain from documentary evidence that Morgan's support of the British pound was withdrawn to force Wilson's hand.

"There have been direct accusations that New York bankers brought on the war. That is one of the things we haven't been particularly pleased with and one of the things I want to deny," Mr. Morgan said.

Investigators later charged that J. P. Morgan brought pressure to bear on manufacturers to get them to buy a lagging $500,000,000 issue of war-time British bonds.

Senator Clark introduced a cablegram from the big banking house to its British agency.

On Sept. 30, 1915, after the loan had been approved by the United States government, Mr. Morgan cabled his London house that there was "strong opposition" to the loan from German sources in certain sections of the country, notably Chicago.

Philadelphia Picked for Convention

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—The Democratic national committee late Thursday selected Philadelphia for the convention to begin June 23.

Formal bids of $201,000 from San Francisco, $200,000 from Philadelphia and $150,000 from Chicago were made.

Both Philadelphia and San Francisco offered free convention halls in addition to the cash bids, but the Illinois city made no attempt to match these offers.

FITTS IS SUED FOR MILLION

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Frank J. Golden, an attorney, filed suit for $1,000,000 today against District Attorney Buron Fitts, his deputies and a long list of lawyers charging malicious prosecution. Golden was tried twice on charge of kidnaping an aged woman client. Each time the jury disagreed.

SEARCH ON FOR STANTON WOMAN WHO LEFT HOME

Officers throughout Southern California today were searching for Mrs. Lamage Saito, 33-year-old Stanton housewife, who left her home Wednesday night and has not been heard from since.

According to a report filed with Sheriff Logan Jackson, the missing woman and her husband, Hachiro Saito, retired at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday. At 10:30 p. m. Mr. Saito awoke and found his wife missing. He searched the neighborhood but could find no trace of her.

Late yesterday, officers learned that a Japanese woman had come to a Stanton service station shortly after 7 a. m. yesterday, clad only in her nightgown, and had borrowed clothes from the wife of the service station attendant. She left a note addressed to Mr. Saito's children telling them not to worry, and saying that she would return home as soon as she had earned some money.

be passed that will meet executive approval.

Just before final passage, the house defeated 319 to 89 a motion by Representative Treadway (R., Mass.) to return the bill to committee under instructions to require payment with unexpended relief funds.

On the floor, members were so unconcerned about the outcome that they chattered noisily and Speaker Byrns had to crack down his gavel repeatedly so those who had not yet voted could hear the clerk call their names.

200,424 VETS IN CALIFORNIA ELIGIBLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Representative Patman (D., Tex.) has made an estimate of the number of veterans, by states, holding certificates and the amount which would be paid them under the house cash payment bill. In California, 200,424 certificates are held with a total value of $122,833,011, he said.

WHAT THE BONUS BILL MEANS TO VETS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Here is what the bonus bill passed by the house today may mean to the holder of a $1000 bonus certificate:

If the veteran has borrowed nothing against the certificate and wants cash, he would get $1,000.

If he has borrowed $500 against his certificate and wants the rest of it value now, he would get $500.

If he has borrowed nothing and allows the certificate to mature until Jan. 1, 1945, he would receive about $1255.

If he has borrowed $500 and allows the remainden to mature until 1940, he would receive about $567.50.

Interest Stipulation

These last two possibilities are figured on the basis of final bonus passage by July 1. Earlier enactment would give the certificate holding veterans slightly more.

The bill stipulates that if the veteran does not apply for cash before April 6, 1937—20 years after the United States entered the World war—he will draw simple interest of 3 per cent annually on the face value of his certificate from the date of enactment.

The 3 per cent interest rate on maturing certificates would stop at the death of the veteran.

MORE ABOUT WHITNEY

with the auditor and treasurer are now square, however.

It is questionable whether the grand jury will be in session at the time the ouster proceedings are tried. A dismissal of the indictment could be made by the district attorney's office or on a resolution by the board of supervisors.

In the ouster proceedings, based on an accusation by the grand jury, Miss Whitney is represented by Attorney O. A Jacobs. The accusation was filed after the indictment. The accusation contains 11 specifications, two of which have been stricken as a result of a demurrer filed by Mr. Jacobs.

The two which have been taken out relate to assertions that Miss Whitney once borrowed $1000 from Robert Mize in order to make her required deposit in the treasury, and that an attempt was made to borrow funds from employes in the recorder's office at another time to make up a shortage. Mr. Mize, an attorney, is a deputy under Miss Whitney, handling Torrens land title matters.

OFFICERS TO TIGHTEN UP ON DRIVERS

In view of the appalling increase in the number of fatal traffic accidents on Orange county's highways, Capt. Henry C. Meehan of the California Highway Patrol today issued strict orders to his officers to "tighten up on all vehicle code violations."

"We are going to put into immediate effect the most strict enforcement of vehicle code regulations ever seen in Orange county," Captain Meehan said. "In the past we have been conducting a courtesy campaign in an effort to educate the motoring public. We just didn't want to be too tough. I'm sorry that this method has proved a failure. It just doesn't seem to get results.

"Last year we made only about one arrest out of every 10 motorists stopped. Each of those stops was the result of some vehicle code violation. From now on, whenever one of my officers stops a car, the offender is going to be cited to appear in court. We are going to pay particular attention to those violations which might result in accidents, injury and death, and we are also going to stress this matter of proper lighting on vehicles."

Captain Meehan said he wanted to take this opportunity to warn the public that they could no longer expect to get by with just a "bawling out" by some officer. Arrests will be made, and Captain Meehan said he expected full cooperation from justice courts in meting out stiff penalties.

MORE ABOUT TICKET GAME

Mrs. Edna Taylor, 38, Whittier housewife; Mrs. Dimple Franklin, 33, La Habra housewife; Miss June Moody, 18, La Habra; Mrs. Bernice Erwin, 38, La Habra housewife; Mrs. Frankie Everett, 31, Whittier orange packer; Mrs. Ruby Williams Schuster, 27, Los Angeles; Mrs. Lucille Smallwood, 20, La Habra; Harry Schuster, 28, Los Angeles, and Lester Lem, 30, Long Beach.

Last night Judge Morrison set bail at $500 for each of the women and $1000 for the men.

Similar to Letter Game

The chain ticket game, as reported exclusively in The Journal Wednesday, is similar in most respects to the chain letter game which created a furor here last spring. However, the La Habra system of play does not use the mails. Purchase and sale of certificates at one dollar each was supposed eventually to place the player's name at the top of a list of 10 names, and when it reached that point the player was to present himself for $7.50 in winnings.

It has been estimated that more than $7000 worth of certificates had been sold. The management got a 25 per cent cut on all sales. Each ticket also entitled the holder to attend a show.

Cash, Records Taken

In the raid last night officers confiscated $137 in cash and all cards and records, as well as typewriters in the headquarters. The records were turned over to the office of District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Just after the place had been raided, Mrs. W. C. Lunschen, 4807 East Fifty-eighth street, Maywood, presented herself at the place and said she wanted a refund of money she had put up. Apparently some lists of five instead of 10 players had been made up, and then the management decided to discontinue the five-player game. Refunds were available, it was understood, and Mrs. Lunschen had come to get hers. She was disappointed, however, as the officers had confiscated the cash.

Defendants Quizzed

Today Deputy District Attorneys James Walker and Harold McCabe were questioning the defendants. It is understood that many of them were willing to tell all they knew about operation of the game.

Mr. Walker explained that the charges against the defendants are based on the contention that the chain ticket scheme is a game of chance. In other words, when a player puts up his money, he is taking a chance on his name reaching the top of the list for payoff. If enough others buy certificates, he may be lucky, but if the game does not play out and payments stop coming in, he may not be lucky enough for his name to get to the payoff position.

Reported 2 Weeks Ago

About two weeks ago Police Chief Collins of La Habra reported the game to the sheriff's office. He was advised to confer with the district attorney's office, which he did. An investigation was started. Mr. Menton assigned Investigator Robert Sandon and Mr. Walker to the case. Last night's raid resulted.

Conviction on the charge against the 11 defendants carries with it a sentence in state prison of not less than 30 days nor more than one year. There is no alternative of a fine.

Officers who took part in last night's raid were Undersheriff Fred Wilbur, Deputy Sheriffs Robert Steinberger, James Ragan, Fred Humiston, Clarence Double, Mrs. Clara Wing and Mrs. Gladys Muroz, in addition to Mr. Sandon and Mr. Walker.

SCHOOL BOARD SENDING TWO EAST ON WPA AID REQUEST

Two representatives of the Santa Ana board of education will leave within the week for Washington, D. C., to present to the proper authorities a request for a federal Works Progress administration grant of $148,000 to aid in construction of new high school buildings. This decision was reached at a meeting of the board held at the Frances Willard Junior High school yesterday.

One of the representatives will be George Wells, president of the board. The other has not been selected, but will be someone not a member of the board. The decision to send the representatives was reached after a conference with WPA authorities in San Francisco last Saturday attended by Mr. Wells and M. B. Youel, board member. Mr. Wells said today the San Francisco authorities had urged that such action be taken.

NATIVE ARMY CLAIMS BIG VICTORY

By the Associated Press

The killing of several hundred Italian Somali soldiers and one Italian officer on the southern front was claimed today by the Ethiopian government.

An official communique said the battle, the first important clash on the Web river, occurred last week, and that the Italians were routed with the loss of six tanks.

The announcement followed reports that the Southern Ethiopian armies had thrust back 43,000 Italian soldiers trying to advance in the Rift valley in the south.

Sixty thousand Ethiopians under the command of Ras Desta Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law, were said to have participated in this engagement.

Egypt decided to join Ethiopia and Sweden today in protests of Italian bombings of cities and ambulance units on east African battle fronts.

The government of King Faud announced at Cairo it would protest to Italy against bombing of an Egyptian Red Crescent ambulance unit near Daggah Bur, on the south front.

Prince Ismail Daoud, the king's brother-in-law, also reported another Egyptian ambulance detachment had been bombed and machine gunned by eight Italian planes Tuesday at Dolally, in the same territory.

JAPAN OPPOSES PACIFIC PACT

TOKYO, Jan. 10. (AP)—A strong indication that the Japanese government is averse to any pact among Pacific powers, guaranteeing the independence and neutrality of the Philippines, was given today by a high official source.

The spokesman declined to say definitely whether Japan would refuse to conclude such a pact with Pacific powers concerning the Philippines, where a commonwealth government has been inaugurated in preparation for complete independence from the United States.

PUPILS NAME OUTSTANDING 1935 NEWS

Jaysee Students Vote Rogers-Post Death Greatest Story

What were the biggest news stories of 1935?

That was the first question Santa Ana Junior college journalism students were called upon to answer at the outset of the new year as they went about their annual custom of selecting some of the more important news events of the past 12 months.

Final decisions made yesterday disclose that 21 of the 24 students enrolled in the beginning journalism class at the college were of the opinion that the death of Will Rogers and Wiley Post should be given first place in the current news poll.

The Italian-Ethiopian war was adjudged second in news value, closely followed by the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann in Lindbergh kidnaping mystery. Establishment of air-mail service across the Pacific and the assassination of Huey Long followed in that order.

Other big stories of 1935 to receive numerous votes in the college news survey included the following in the order named: Supreme court decisions against the NRA, death of Thelma Todd, dust storms in the Midwest, the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case, earthquakes in Montana, departure of the Lindberghs for England, and the wreck of the dirigible Macon.

News selections for the previous year are made by Santa Ana Junior college students each January under the direction of John H. McCoy, head of the college journalism department.

Shallow water supplies in South Dakota are still suffering from the drought, a state geologist reported.

LIBRARIAN REVIEWS BOOKS ON 'INSPECTION SHELF'

By Ethel Walker, Librarian

The following books will be "on inspection" during the week at the public library. They will be put into circulation Saturday, Jan. 11:

History and Biography

"My Friend, Julia Lathrop," by Jane Addams, in which the author pays tribute to her life-long friend and associate, whose worth and achievement almost equaled those of the famous author herself.

"Albert of Belgium," by Emile Cammaerts, is a book about the famous war-time king by one of his own subjects. It has been designated "the best of the King Albert biographies" and combines an intimate study of a personality with the historical interest of Belgium's part in the war. Well worth reading.

"One Against England," by Ernst Carl, is the personal narrative of a German spy who served in England during the greater part of the war. He tells of the plot behind the death of Lord Kitchener and of the never realized plan to destroy the British fleet.

"The Story of Civilization: Our Oriental Heritage," by Will Durant, is the first volume of a monumental history on which the author has been working for 20 years. It is, of course, very readable, and Historian Harry Elmer Barnes says, "The book proves itself to be a real history of civilization rather than a somewhat amplified world history."

"If Memory Serves," by Sacha Guitry, is the chatty and amusing memoir of a famous French actor, manager and playwright. It gives a picture of a rather unusual side of French life and of the theater.

Southern History

The author of "The Lees of Virginia," Burton Hendrick, has already given us one of the most widely read biographies of modern times in the "The Life and Letters of Walter Hines Page." This history of the famous southern family makes excellent background reading for any biography of Robert E. Lee; for it is in reality a family history. The only scion of the house upon whom the author lays particular stress is perhaps Arthur Lee, whose tragic history is told in some detail. This famous Lee was accused of treason but after many years was finally vindicated.

In "Facing Two Ways," Baroness Ishimoto, daughter of an old and aristocratic Japanese family, relates the story of her struggle to reconcile the old ways of feudal Japan with the newer ways of Western civilization. Combining the arts of the Japanese lady with the activities of an ardent feminist she typifies a society which is "facing two ways."

"Five Men of Frankfort," by M. E. Ravage is the story of "The House of Rothschild."

Travel Books

In "The Grand Tour," Patrick Balfour gives us a spirited account, abounding in "wit and wisdom," of travel in such fascinating places as Nepal, Calcutta, the Andaman isles, Malaya, Siam and Sumatra.

Konrad Bercovici, author of "The Incredible Balkans," is himself an Americanized Roumanian and well qualified to write about his own country and her neighbors. Mr. Bercovici combines a rare gift of writing with abundant information.

"Back to Montparnasse," by Sisley Huddleston, is an older book, but a very fascinating one. The author fills the reader with his own enthusiasm for a country about which he has already written several very charming volumes.

Coming much nearer home we find in Rosa E. King's "Tempest Over Mexico," a vivid picture of the Mexican revolution of 1910 to 1920.

"Keeping Mentally Alive," by Ethel Cotton is a practical book for self-improvement. The author offers concrete suggestions for the development of confidence and poise in social contacts through the improvement of conversational and reading interests.

"Getting Along With People," by Milton Wright, gives specific conduct problems, with solutions along the lines of accepted standards.

Ernest Groves, the well-known authority on such group problems as marriage, the home, parenthood, the family, etc., in a new book, "Uuderstanding Yourself," has given his attention to the individual in a searching study. Of it the Scientific Book club says, "Just as one decides against any more books which purport to unravel mental twists and seek to help normal individuals by a discussion of abnormalities, there comes a volume such as this which really does have a practical purpose and should achieve it."

Criminology

There seems to be no dissenting voice among the critics as to the value of the book by David Lamson, "We Who Are About to Die." The review in the Boston Transcript, to quote one reviewer, says, "He has got at the human equation in prison life as scarcely any other writer has succeeded in doing." In "Cell 202—Sing Sing" Warden Lawes, author of the popular "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," presents a history of penal developments from 1826-1911.

Literature

"Mark Twain Wit and Wisdom" is one of several volumes published to commemorate the centenary of the writer's birth. This selection was made by his nephew, Cyril Clemens, who is also a writer:

"So You're Writing a Play," by Clayton Hamilton, with a title which gives no clue to the richness of the book by this famous dramatic critic. Besides a discussion of dramatic principles it contains a commentary on the work of the leading dramatists of the last 30 years, and much personal reminiscence of the author.

A new volume of poems by Robinson Jeffers, "Solstice and Other Poems," has caused the critics to disagree as usual on certain points, but all appear to concede that in vision and perception and in the grandeur of his language Jeffers still remains one of the greatest, if not the greatest, poet of modern times.

"Things to Come," by H. G. Wells is a scenario of the author's book, "The Shape of Things to Come." The production of this in motion pictures was the occasion of the author's recent visit in Hollywood.

THREE DIE WHEN PLANE CRASHES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10. (AP)—A "pleasure hop" ended in the death of three persons yesterday in the crash of a cabin monoplane near the municipal airport. The dead are Earl Beauvais, 32, a private pilot and owner of the plane; his wife, Olivia, 30, and a friend, Charles W. Scott, 25, all of St. Louis. Witnesses said either the propeller or the engine went to pieces in the air.

COMPROMISE INSURANCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. (AP) Superior Judge Elmer Robinson approved yesterday a compromise between Mrs. Hazle Wheeler, midow of Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler, shot to death on a yacht last August off the Orange county coast, and the insurance company which issued $100,000 in insurance on his life.

Mrs. Wheeler and the two children, Clayton, jr., and Diane, will receive $60,000. The insurance company had brought suit to cancel the policy, contending Dr. Wheeler had agreed two months before his death to drop them, and there was doubt as to whether his death was an accident or a suicide.

In turn, Mrs. Wheeler had sued to collect. Dr. Wheeler's will has been filed for probate in Los Angeles and San Francisco. The estate has been estimated at $100,000, exclusive of the insurance. The Wheelers' home is in Los Angeles.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

SOLANO COUNTY

Created Feb. 18, 1850. One of the original 27 counties. "Solano" in Spanish means "east wind," and was the second name of the celebrated missionary Francisco Solano. When the chief of the powerful tribe of Suisunes Indians, which inhabited the west side of the River Jesus Maria, now the Sacramento river, was christianized, he was by this missionary baptized Solano, and as his residence was in the valley of Suisun, the name Solano was given to this county.

Noted for its early fruit, delightful climate, the Mare Island Navy Yard, deep-water ports and splendid highways, Solano possesses a history intimately associated with the building of California. General Vallejo first ruled over this region when it was under Mexican rule, serving as military governor under Castro, Guitierrez, Chico, Alvarado, Micheltoreno and Pico.

During the four years after California became a State in 1850, this county engaged in several political battles in the selection of a state capitol. Both Vallejo and Benicia were for a time the seat of government, but in 1851 the legislature designated Vallejo as the capitol. In 1852 the legislature moved to Sacramento because a saloon and bowling alley occupied the two-story building that was the capitol.

In March a flood swept through Sacramento so the capitol moved back to Vallejo. After vainly trying to get the legislators back, Sacramento joined forces with Benicia and that city was designated the capitol on May 18, 1853. The next year, Sacramento and Vallejo banded together and the capitol was removed to Sacramento where it has remained.

Solano is famous for its orchards and vineyards. Prunes and plums comprise over 40 per cent of the country's fruit crop. It is a leader in apricot and peach production. It ships the first cherries to the East each season. Vaca valleye is one of the loveliest of California's agricultural regions. Solano's pioneers sent the first fruit from this state to the East in 1871. Its markets now extend to the Orient, South and Central America and Europe.

Deep-water shipping facilities and factory sites at Benicia, Cordelia, famous for its cherries, Dixon with its thoroughbred cattle, sheep and swine, Rio Vista, Sacramento river port, Suisun and Fairfield, charming Vacaville and historic Vallejo make Solano an envied and unusual county. Population: 40,834. Area: 822 square miles.

MORGAN VERY UNORTHODOX

It's In Way He Smokes Pipe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—As a pipe smoker, J. P. Morgan is decidedly unorthodox.

While senate investigators talk of war and billions, Morgan keeps refilling the same pipe—a shocking procedure to true initiates into nicotine lore. They say it's bad for the briar—that one should change a pipe or let it cool off.

Moreover, the banker doesn't rub it against his nose to maintain the polish (on the pipe, not the nose).

But his complicated tobacco container, a small square box, is something for an habitual smoker to envy. It hangs on his heavy watch chain. When Morgan wants to reload he pushes a gadget and out comes a bowl full.

From another mechanism also attached to his chain, he produces white wooden matches with red tops.

For the most part, Morgan, whose life has been almost that of cloistered royalty, appears to enjoy the hearings as an unaccustomed outing.

But someetimes, as the subject turns heavy and technical, his great head moves close to the broad chest and he is far away from the committee room and the matter of $3,000,000,000 worth of goods his house handled for the Allies.

NEW TRIAL ASKED

Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck (Dem.) of Seattle, Wash., sought a new trial after he was convicted in a Washington, D. C., court of a charge of being drunk and disorderly in the course of a New Year's eve celebration. (Associated Press Photo)

LIQUOR STAMP SALES LARGE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Liquor excise tax stamp sales by the state for the last half of 1935 totaled $4,119,780, of which $761,751 were sold in December.

George M. Stout, state liquor administrator of the board of equalization, said the December sales were the largest to date.

SEEK TO CHANGE NAME OF FOREST

MONTEREY, Jan. 10. (AP)—Resolutions asking a change in the name of the Santa Barbara National forest to Mission National forest were adopted here at a meeting of chamber of commerce and state and forest officials, will be forwarded to the central coast counties chamber of commerce meeting in San Francisco Jan. 24.

The Monterey group urged that the portion of the forest within Monterey county borders be termed "Monterey National forest," and if necessary, with the added designation—"a division of the Mission National forest."

ARREST TRIO AS HOLDUP SUSPECTS

ST. GEORGE, Utah, Jan. 10. (AP)—Three men charged with stealing a taxcab in San Bernardino, Calif., and robbing a service station in Las Vegas, Nev., were captured here yesterday.

The trio gave their names as John Calhoun, William Amars and Byron Tramall. Sheriff John H. Cottam said they were accused of hiring a taxicab in San Bernardino and throwing the driver from the cab on the outskirts of the city.

LINER SAILS WITH AN IMPORTED CREW

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. (AP)—The liner Pennsylvania, tied up here since Jan. 4 by labor troubles, sailed yesterday for New York after non-union men were brought to the dock in covered trucks and placed aboard as the crew.

The regular crew of about 350 men was left standing on the dock. They claimed they were stranded here with their money and clothing aboard the vessel.

Hybrid corn was credited by the federal bureau of plant industry with having met the test provided by the 1934 drought successfully.

To Win Fame, Eat Five or Six Times Daily, Says 'Prof'

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—To win fame and fortune in your business, says Prof. Howard W. Haggard of Yale University, eat five or six times a day instead of two or three.

He explained tests showed workers are more efficient the first three hours after eating.

Besides, he added, it isn't true your stomach needs a rest.

SET TRUCK CROP SCALE OF WAGES

SANTA MARIA, Jan. 10. (AP)—Dr. R. L. Adams, head of an arbitration board to smooth out labor troubles in the vegetable industry of this district, announced that the wage scale for 1936 will be practically unchanged.

Dr. Adams, of the University of California, granted the workers recognition of unions for collective bargaining, but ruled work in the valley must be confined to residents of one year, who are registered voters. About 5,000 men and women are affected by the decision.

ACTRESS FINED $200

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 10. (AP) Patsy Bellamy, film actress, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of drunkenness. Municipal Justice Myer B. Marion fined her $200, but gave her until Saturday to raise the money.

SAY TWO SET FOREST FIRE

FRESNO, Jan. 10. (AP)—George Nutter, 48, a cattleman, and Dennis Jacobs, 44, a laborer, are under arrest here charged with setting the most disastrous fire in the history of the Sierra National forest Aug. 20, 1934, near Mariposa.

In the fire 4300 acres of virgin timber was burned with an estimated loss of more than $100,000. Nutter and Jacobs denied the charge.

CALL CANAL WORK BIDS

DENVER, Jan. 10. (AP)—The federal bureau of reclamation has called for bids on lining two sections of the All-American canal. They will be opened Feb. 6 at Yuma, Ariz.

GILBERT LEFT $1,000,000 ESTATE

Famed Lover of Films To Have Strictly Private Rites

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10. (AP)—John Gilbert, last of the silent screen's "great lovers," left a fortune near to $1,000,000 when he died.

A heart attack ended yesterday the career of the 38-year-old actor, who climbed from extra ranks to stardom on the screen, then faded into retirement because his voice was too high-pitched for the "talkies."

A large share of the golden reward his fame reaped was swept away in the stock market debacle of 1929, with the holdings of many others of the film colony, but in August of that year he signed a three-year contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer which reportedly paid him $500,000 a year.

Had Big Income

The estimate of Gilbert's estate was made by his attorney, Judge Peyton H. Moore, who said "he could have lived to a ripe old age in luxury on the income of his investments.

"His fortune included extensive real property, annunities and securities. Income from these provided for his current expenditures."

Judge Moore declined to say whether Gilbert left a will, and how his estate would be distributed, pending the funeral.

Private Rites

Private services will be conducted Saturday morning in a Beverly Hills mortuary chapel, with only relatives and close friends attending by invitation. The Rev. Neal Dodd of the Church of the Angels will officiate. Information concerning the burial was withheld today.

The farewell to the screen romanticist will be in sharp contrast to those given Rogers and Thelma Todd last year. Thousands passed by the biers of the humorist and the comedienne as they lay in state.

Arrangements for Gilbert's funeral were made by his business manager, Charles Greene, to avoid a mob spectacle such as that attending the funeral of Rudolph Valentino in New York.

Wedded Four Times

From four women whom Gilbert had married and from glamorous celebrities linked with him in romance came expressions of grief at his sudden passing.

Blonde Virginia Bruce, who divorced him in May, 1934, cried, "this is the most terrible shock I've ever known. I cannot realize Jack is gone." She has a daughter, 3 years old, by the marriage.

Other ex-mates of the actor are Ina Claire, New York, comedienne; Leatrice Joy, brunette actress now Mrs. William Spencer Hook, jr., Los Angeles, and Olivia Burwell, a non-professional, married to J. T. Morgan, Phoenix, Ariz. Miss Joy has a daughter by Gilbert.

The federal bureau of plant industry reports that only six of 18 species of trees tested in the region of the Great Plains shelterbelt maintained satisfactory stands over a period of years.

29 Back Seat Drivers Stick Up for Bus Man

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10. (AP)—Twenty-nine back seat drivers, who watch traffic lights while they ride in Joseph Wolfe's bus, have promised to come to his defense against a traffic charge.

A traffic policeman arrested Wolfes on charges of disorderly conduct, breach of the peace and reckless driving after an argument in which the bus driver denied passing a red light.

The passengers—29 of them—agreed with Wolfe the light was green, gave him their names and promised to be present at his trial.

SUSPECT TRAILED, NABBED, SENTENCED WITHIN 9 HOURS

Huntington Beach and Long Beach police set something of a record yesterday when they traced down theft of oil well equipment, arrested Jessie Bartos, 28, of 220 Crest drive, Long Beach, took him before City Judge C. P. Patten at Huntington Beach for sentence, and brought him to the county jail here within a space of nine hours.

At 6 a. m. yesterday an employe of the Dabney Oil Company at Huntington Beach reported theft of equipment from the company's property at Nineteenth and Acacia streets. Following a call to Long Beach, officers there arrested Bartos at 9:20 a. m. At 11 o'clock Chief Gelzer of Huntington Beach took the man to the Huntington Beach jail. At 2:30 p. m. he appeared before Judge Patten, who pronounced sentence of $100 fine or 50 days in jail.

Bartos took the days, and at 3 p. m. was in the county jail.

PLUMBING AS HEALTH AID STRESSED

Russell and Wahl Move To New and Larger Display Rooms

Plumbing as a contribution to good health has been given pre-eminent recognition by the Russell Plumbing Company, 921 South Main street, where J. H. Russell and F. C. Wahl, after years of experience and investigation, have assembled the latest in ornamental and scientific plumbing equipment.

The Russell Plumbing Company began business in the Grand Central Market, the business expanded and the firm moved to the above address, which in a short time proved inadequate, and enlarged quarters were made by Contractor "Vic" Anderson with the result that they now have one of the most modern display rooms in Santa Ana.

Great Departure

There has been a great departure in plumbing equipment within the past few years. It takes a visit to the Russell Plumbing Company not only to convince but to surprise one of the many changes which this business has undergone to meet the scientific and salutary demands of health. Old mechanical methods have given place to modernity, convenience and comfort.

Two years ago Messrs. Russell and Wahl believed their growing business was deserving of better housing facilities, and the trade a larger line of merchandise, so they moved to their present location, installed the latest equipment, and now carry a complete line of plumbing and repair parts and heating service. It is also a complete gas appliance store. One can find gas furnaces, heaters, ranges and the celebrated gas-Electrolux refrigerators. And in order to meet one's requirements and assist him in modernizing his home, several different easy-term payments are available.

Modern Fixtures

The objective of the Russell Plumbing Company is to always have on hand the most modern, up-to-date fixtures which one may obtain at popular prices. In appliances they have the well-known Tappan gas range, Fraser furnaces and water heaters.

In the plumbing department everything needed is offered, such as pipes, valves, fittings and other accessories. The firm has kept in the forefront of merchanical advancement, watching with careful consideration for the newest and the practical in household appliances. Such equipment is now at their place of business for your inspection and use.

PLUMBING FIRM SHOWROOMS ENLARGED

Above are shown the enlarged and remodeled showrooms of the Russell Plumbing Company, 921 South Main street, work on which was recently completed by V. J. Anderson, local contractor.

TICKETS PLACED ON SALE FOR PRESIDENT'S BALL

Tickets for the President's birthday ball and card party to be held Jan. 30 at the American Legion hall and the Ebell clubhouse were placed on sale today, it was announced by Joseph P. Smith, general chairman in charge of arrangements.

More than 1000 are expected to attend the two affairs, given annually throughout the nation for the benefit of infantile paralysis sufferers.

Seventy cents of each dollar received for the parties will remain in the local coffers to care for the rehabilitation of those afflicted with the disease. A net 30 per cent of receipts will be turned over to the National Birthday Ball committee for delivery to President Roosevelt, who in turn will present it to the Birthday Ball commission for infantile paralysis research.

Head Card Parties

Mrs. C. V. Davis and Mrs. Roy Shafer are in charge of arrangements for the card party, Mrs. Davis heading the women's committee, and Mrs. Shafer being named as general chairman of arrangements.

Mrs. A. G. Flagg was act as hostess for the birthday ball at Legion hall, and also as chairman of the committee on patrons and patronesses. Jules Markel is in charge of ticket sales, and Harry Hanson is acting as treasurer. C. C. Cartwright is in charge of music arrangements.

The executive committee consists of Mr. Smith as general chairman, B. Z. McKinney as vice chairman in charge of arrangements, and Rodney Bacon as vice chairman in charge of finance. Bob Guild and Paul Vissman are in charge of publicity for the two affairs.

Executive Committee

Members of the executive committee, in addition to the above-named workers, are: James B. Tucker, Carlyle Dennis, Fred G. Merker, Earl S. Morrow, William M. Wells, Mayor Fred C. Rowland, Judge J. G. Mitchell, Mary Burke King, J. P. Baumgartner, A. I. Mellenthin, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. Fannie Reeves, Allison G. Honer, Mrs. Fred C. Rowland and Mrs. Don Park.

Admission to either affair will be strictly by ticket, which will be sold at 50 cents each, Mr. Bacon said today.

PLUMBING CO. REMODELED

V. J. Anderson, contractor, has just completed the remodeling of the Russell Plumbing Company plant at 921 South Main street. This work was accomplished without interfering with the regular business of the firm. When Contractor Anderson finished the work for the Russell Plumbing company, that concern found itself the occupant of one of the best arranged display rooms in the city, and so conveniently arranged that virtually all of the major merchandise is visible.

Mr. Anderson has been engaged in the contracting and building trade in Santa Ana for the past 15 years. His success is in a measure due to the fact that he gives his contracts his personal attention. In other words, he is "on the job." In addition to the Russell contract, many other alterations and repair jobs have been handled by the Anderson firm. He has remodeled several buildings and made alterations with the aid of title one, loans from the FHA, and has completed two buildings at Hermosa Beach and one at Long Beach under title two of the FHA.

Another project which will soon require Mr. Anderson's attention will be the construction of a new early American type residence to be erected at 1103 Louise street for Dr. F. W. Dean, dentist, 104 East Fifteenth street. This contract has just been awarded. The plans and specifications were drawn and prepared by Everett E. Parks, 1120 West Chestnut street, of Anaheim. The contract calls for the expenditure of $7500.

LARGEST U. S. PAY CHECKS REVEALED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Congress took a peek into the pay envelopes of the nation's leading money makers today and discovered that annual salaries of $100,000 are not rarities.

Under the 1934 revenue act, corporations filed with the treasury department for transmission to congress the names and salaries of persons receiving more than $15,000 annually. More than 18,000 individuals were listed by some 8000 corporations in the report for 1934.

Actors Are Tops

Business men, in many instances, were forced to give way to actors in the matter of salaries. Mae West's $339,166.65 from Paramount Pictures was among the top payments.

William Randolph Hearst paid himself a yearly salary of $500,000 as the head of his widespread enterprises, and John Francis Nellan, his counsel, $88,000 as head of Hearst Consolidated Publications. Morrill Goddard, editor of Hearst's American Weekly, receives $161,222 annually.

Gets F. D. R.'s Salary

Frank Knox, president of the Chicago Daily News and Republican presidential possibility, received $75,000—the White House salary.

Henry L. Doherty, president of H. L. Doherty, Inc., the utility empire, drew $100,000.

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, receives $90,036; P. E. Martin, a vice president, $107,341, and Charles E. Sorensen, general superintendent of the Ford company, $103,435.

Crooning Pays

Bing Crosby, Inc., Ltd., paid Bing Crosby, the crooner and actor, $104,449 a year. Crosby drew an additional $88,499 from the Crosby Productions, Inc.

Max Baer, one time heavyweight boxing king, drew $16,666 from Paramount Pictures. Other Paramount salaries included. Joan Bennett, $36,976; George Burns and Gracie Allen together $68,791; Dorothy Parker Campbell, $16,000 for the famous Parker wit; Claudette Colbert, $85,000; Gary Cooper, $139,667; Marlene Dietrich, $145,000; Duke Ellington, Inc., and his orchestra, $18,249; Cecile de Mille, producer, $125,000.

W. C. Fields, $155,083; Miriam Hopkins, $71,145; William Le Baron, $114,711; Guy Lombardo and his orchestra, $35,000; Leo McCarey, director, $12,416; Wesley Ruggles, director, $139,510; B. P. Schulberg, producer, $145,583; Sylvia Sidney, $110,583, and Norman Taurog, director, $118,750.

$134,524 for Pulitzer

Their own producing companies paid Constance Bennett $176,188; Charlie Chaplin, $143,000, and Walt Disney, $51,500. Pandro Berman of RKO got $129,924.

Joseph Pulitzer, president of the publishing company which bears his name, received $134,524.

Among those listed by the Prudential Insurance company: Harry B. Nelles, Van Nuys, Cal., manager, $107,599.

Other Big Ones

The Nast Publishing company paid its president, Conde Nast, $49,999 a year. Max Reinhardt received $17,500 for devoting one-third of his time as dramatic director to the California Festival association.

K. R. Kingsbury, president Standard Oil of California, was paid $136,368; Oscar Sutro, vice president, $90,912; H. L. Sorensen, secretary United Grocers, Inc., $83,117.

H. W. Phelps, president American Can, gets $121,530, and S. T. Bledsoe, president and chairman, Santa Fe railroad, Topeka, Kan., $56,200.

ONE SLAIN IN GANG ROUNDUP

Seattle police believed they broke up a safe-cracking gang when they set a trap in a large bakery and killed one man, Carl Thomas (upper left), 35, former waiter. Dale Vincent (upper right), 34, alleged lookout, was slightly wounded, while James T. Hull (lower left), 42, and Joe Neal (lower right), former policeman on parole from a holdup conviction, were more seriously wounded. John Frank Garvin (lower center), 34, attorney and former assistant to the United States attorney, was held after arrest at a house where Hull and Neal were found. Garvin said one of them had come to visit him as a client to obtain advice. (Associated Press Photos)

FIND 268 SCHOOL EMPLOYES WITH POLICE RECORDS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—A survey showing 268 persons with police records among 4500 non-teaching employes of the Los Angeles board of education stirred an administrative dispute today.

Mrs. Margarete Clark, board member, asked an investigation to determine why four names were eliminated from the survey.

Dr. Willard S. Ford, chief deputy superintendent, denied the action indicated "any attempt at suppression."

Of the 268 persons with police records, 27 had been held at one time on suspicion of murder or kidnaping; 19 on suspicion of arson, battery or extortion; 51 on suspicion of theft and fraud; 112 on suspicion of vagrancy, gambling or violation of liquor laws, and 59 on miscellaneous misdemeanors.

All cases were listed by number, not names.

Noted Chinese Can't Find the Depression Here

ST. PAUL, Jan. 10. (AP)—Dr. C. L. Liu is disgusted. Dr. Liu came all the way from China to see the American depression.

He asked, "Where is it?"

Dr. Liu, eminent Chinese entomologist said "I cannot even find your depression. Everyone is well dressed, happy and riding in new automobiles."

VON KLEINSMID ON ANNAPOLIS BOARD AGAIN

Reappointment of Dr. R. B. von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, as a member of the board of visitors to the U. S. Naval academy, was made this week by President Roosevelt. He will leave for Annapolis in April where he will meet with prominent educators and government officials to discuss plans for the academy.

PEACE PLAY SET FOR TONIGHT

Bringing a message of peace to a war-worried world, the Olympic Players of Sequim, Wash., will present "Brothers," tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

The drama guild comes from the Olympic peninsula where annual competitions are held to decide the best plays and producers. The winning actors then go on tour to produce the prize play.

Tonight's production will be followed by an appearance in San Diego tomorrow, closing the coast tour of the drama group. The play was written by Dorothy Clarke Wilson and is said to be an excellent play at this particular time in history of the world.

The players are under direction of the Rev. Virgil Kraft and Mrs. Kraft of the Trinity M. E. church of Sequim, Wash.

JOBLESS MEET TOMORROW

A. C. Rogers, secretary of the central labor council of San Diego, will be the speaker at a mass meeting of unemployed, scheduled for the Fremont school, Eighth and Artesia streets, on Saturday at 2 p. m. Announcement of the meeting was made today by A. R. Boolen, president of Orange county local No. 1, Public Works and Unemployed union.

Mr. Rogers will speak on the topic, "An Answer to the Unemployment Problem."

All unemployed in the Works Progress administration and State Relief Administration are urged to attend, and there will be no admission charge, Mr. Boolen said.

Local No. 1 of the Public Works and Unemployed union will hold its regular business meeting each Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Epic headquarters, 1037 West Fourth street.

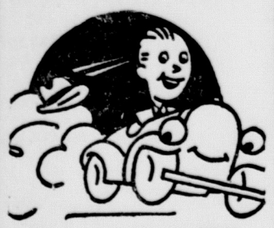
WOMAN KILLED IN FREAK ACCIDENT AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

Brick Dust



Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WHISTLES and foghorns and lights — Fire Chief Frank Crocker at Newport Beach knows all about 'em.

We just happened to drop in on Frank to ask about his weather at the beach and some way or other the conversation swung around to the new light at the end of the jetty at the harbor.

We asked the chief how the lighthouse was coming along, and he immediately leaped to the attack, pointing out that there wasn't any lighthouse, in the first place, and did we know what a house was, anyway? After some consideration, we decided that a house was a place for people to live, and no one lives on the jetty and so there wasn't a lighthouse and the chief was right. He admitted it.

Then he went into a complicated description about operation of the light (not lighthouse). Seems that when the sun shines on part of the mechanism, the heat shuts a valve and the light won't work. When the sun does not shine, everything's lovely, and the light flashes on and off at regular intervals.

He anticipated our next question—what happens when it's cloudy? "What d'ye suppose? The light burns." When fog or clouds sweep in, the light starts right in working, just like in the night, he added.

* * *

Acetylene gas is used to operate the flasher. It's transported out to the end of the jetty by boat and then lifted up to base of the 30-foot tower recently erected by government lighthouse workers. They don't have much trouble with the flash not working, because a small pilot light burns at all times, and only once or twice a year is the pilot liable to go out unless the supply of gas runs low. Harbormaster Tommy Bouchey is in charge of the light.

It was a very interesting conversation, and when the chief relinquished the floor, some of the department members started in on the subject of other lights and whistles and bells. Someone remarked about a whistling buoy up north—action of the waves sends air roaring through the whistle until, on a rough and foggy night it can be heard for miles. Someone else remembered an experience on Puget Sound when the whistlers were moaning on every side and told of the ghostly feeling.

Then the conversation switched to airplane beacons. They're operated either with gas, electricity or motor, someone who knew about 'em chimed in. And so we talked about the beacons and the good they do for a few minutes, until the phone rang. It made a loud clang, but no one was calling, but the interruption broke up the meeting and everyone left for his home.

All except the chief. We stood and talked about rainfall and the possibility of heavy storms and who's going to win The Journal's umbrella and the difficulty of preparing rain charts. Then we inspected a pair of shoes much in need of repair and bemoaned the lack of real leather in footwear nowadays and then decided that it was time for us to go home, too. So, with an admiring glance at the new covering for the fire hall pool table, we went home, too.

* * *

Did you see by yesterday's paper where Anaheim's really going to get a postoffice? After three years of trying, work has actually started and all seems to be well.

Notice, however, that they're not taking any chances. When Huntington Beach got the federal building, they waited until the whole thing was built before having any ceremonies. In Anaheim they're going to get their cornerstone laid and the building officially under way before anyone can take it away.

Incidentally, there seem to be eight starters in the race for postmastership — Postmaster Whittaker's term expires March 10, and eight men are reported seeking recommendation of the County Democratic committee.

Some of the seekers are said to be our old friend "Colonel" George Reid, chamber of commerce secretary, Jimmie Heffron, demon sports editor, H. E. W. Barnes, Louis Hoskins, Joe Elliott, Howard Haynes, E. E. Smith and William LeVecke.

Wonder if they just want the postmaster job, or are they envious of the nice, new quarters they'd have in the new building?

* * *

Notes to you: Wonder if Huntington Beach is going out after another distinction? They won nearly all prizes in the Coast association's Christmas lighting program. Now, are they going to set another record and have three women on the city council? Saw City Attorney Ray Overacker in Santa Ana yesterday, but he refused to testify. . . . Noticed the improved appearance of the state park at Capistrano Beach lately? Fine 'dobe wall and caretaker's cottage. Worth looking over.

Forty-one thousand acres are contained in California's state redwood park areas.

FALLS FROM OPEN DOOR OF CAR

Mrs. Lea Vickers, 53, Dies From Injuries In L. B. Hospital

Killed in county traffic accidents so far this year..... 5
Killed in county traffic accidents same time last year.... 2

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Mrs. Lea Vickers, 53, 1770 Gundry avenue, Long Beach, died in the Community hospital there last night from injuries suffered in a freak accident which occurred on Coast highway west of Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Vickers, it was reported, opened the car door to throw out some papers. She lost her balance and pitched head-first to the pavement as the car was speeding along the highway.

The injured woman was rushed to Dr. B. W. Hardy's emergency hospital at Huntington Beach and was immediately transferred to the Long Beach hospital, where she died from a skull fracture.

Mrs. Vickers was riding in the car with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Miller of the same Long Beach address.

MORE ABOUT MRS. FORDING

items from the Garden Grove district for today:

MRS. FORDING VISITS WPA SEWING PROJECT

GARDEN GROVE.—Thirty-nine busy pairs of hands and garments in all stages of completion were the first things I observed when visiting the WPA sewing project, known as county unit 4 and at present housed in the old hotel building east of the postoffice in Garden Grove. The place made me think of a beehive and although I was later shown some of the fine results of the women's work, I couldn't help but wonder how anyone could work in such cramped quarters.

Seeking the supervisor of the project, Mrs. B. Forry, I learned of the work and also that larger quarters are being sought to give workers more room and that more people may also be given work on the project. The chamber of commerce, she said, is working toward seeking a better and larger place for the work.

The women, since early in December, have worked principally with outing flannel, making children's and men's pajamas and baby layettes. One of the most interesting features was that not one tiny little scrap was wasted. These were basted together as a filler for quilts.

The layettes include three muslin dresses, three gertrudes, three night gowns, three bands and two dozen diapers. These are prepared in a bundle and with other finished garments for the WPA headquarters in Santa Ana for distribution to the needy of the county.

Each tiny dress carried a small embroidery decoration which Mrs. Forry explained is the local group's own idea for making the garments more appealing to the new mother and for which the women themselves furnish the thread and patterns.

Thoroughly inspecting each garment before it leaves the sewing room, Mrs. Forry is enabled to teach those who do not sew so well how to improve their work, as well as to know that each article is in perfect condition.

At the present time, due to lack of space as well as the waste of time, visitors are not allowed, but if a larger working room is obtained it is hoped to have certain open house days when visitors will be welcomed.

RAY BEARDSLEY IS FETED ON BIRTHDAY

GARDEN GROVE.—Ray Beardsley was surprised with a dinner party recently by Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Beardsley at their East Acacia street home on his birthday anniversary. Two large birthday cakes were a feature of the dessert course.

Present for the dinner were the honored guest and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beardsley, Charles Beardsley, Mrs. Jerry Deevers, Mrs. Margaret Beardsley, Miss Fontella Hudson, Miss Lucille Wade, Gordon Goodwill and the hosts. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wade and family and Mrs. R. J. Killingbeck joined the party for a social hour with games.

S. A. MAN TO SPEAK IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. Mates, president of Santa Ana Townsend club No. 6, is scheduled to address members of the Garden Grove club at a meeting scheduled for Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Legion hall, President E. Humphrey announced today.

ROCH BRADSHAW IS LION CLUB SPEAKER

GARDEN GROVE.—H. Clay Kellogg, as program chairman for this week's luncheon meeting of the Lions club, presented Roch Bradshaw of the editorial staff of the Santa Ana Journal, who discussed the Social Securities act. In addition, one of the club members, J. W. Crill, told of interesting highlights of the eastern holiday trip from which he returned this week.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS AT GROVE HOME

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed entertained members of her contract bridge foursome and one guest, Mrs. Laura Whorton, Seattle, Wash., at luncheon Wednesday. Members present were Mrs. Jean Trueblood, Mrs. Irene Mitchell and Mrs. Louise Papin, Santa Ana. The hostess held high score for the afternoon's games.

FRIENDS GUESTS AT G. G. LUNCHEON

GARDEN GROVE.—A group of the friends of Mrs. Ray Johnson were her guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday and spent the afternoon over needlework. Guests were Mrs. C. Ver Jones, Long Beach, Mrs. E. W. Edwards, Los Angeles, Mrs. A. J. Woodworth, Mrs. Charles Lake and Mrs. Robert Smith, Garden Grove.

PLAN ROOSEVELT BALL IN NORTH ORANGE COUNTY

'BILLY' STEDMAN

W. G. "Billy" Stedman, Fullerton, who has been chosen to head a group arranging for the annual President's ball, slated for Jan. 30 in the Fullerton Union High school gymnasium. Mr. Stedman also was in charge of last year's event.

FULLERTON. — For the third successive year, Fullerton will be host to north Orange county residents Jan. 30 at a grand ball honoring President Franklin D. Roosevelt on his birthday anniversary. Funds collected through the event will be used for the benefit of infantile paralysis victims.

The northern Orange county committee has re-elected William G. Stedman chairman, Glenn Gossett treasurer and Harry M. May secretary for the 1936 ball.

Chairman Stedman announced today that the Fullerton Union High school gymnasium has again been obtained by the committee for the ball.

On behalf of the committee, Mr. Stedman pointed out that funds raised last year enabled the committee to save the life of one Fullerton child afflicted with infantile paralysis and to give assistance in two chronic cases, while a substantial balance still remains in the treasury for emergency use.

As in previous years, the local committee will retain 70 per cent of the net proceeds for use in active work against infantile paralysis, while 30 per cent will be forwarded to the national institution founded in 1935 for research work in the fight against the disease.

PLAN BALL AT YACHT CLUB

NEWPORT BEACH.—A brilliant event of the mid-winter season will be the Newport Harbor Yacht club inaugural dinner-dance Saturday evening, Jan. 18.

Newly elected 1936 officers and directors will be inducted into office at impressive ceremonies. They are H. W. Rohl, commodore; William A. Bartholomae, jr., vice commodore; Shirley E. Merserve, rear commodore; Leon S. Heseman, secretary treasurer; directors, K. L. Carver, Felix Farwell, John E. Jardine and V. O. Wroolie.

Trophies won by skippers in the three-day Christmas regatta staged on the bay by the club, will be awarded during the evening.

Responsible for preparations are Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Webster, Leon S. Heseman and Mrs. Caroline Heseman, Mr. and Mrs. Wroolie and Admiral and Mrs. Albert Soiland.

EXPOSITION IS CLUB'S PLAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The second annual Huntington Beach Merchants and Industrial exposition will be held April 8, 9, 10 and 11, it has been decided by the Windsor club, sponsor in the event.

The main exposition will be held in Monrovia hall, where local business and industrial concerns will have exhibits arranged in booths. An auto show, which will be greater than last year, will be held in a tent outside the auditorium.

Ted Tarbox, newly-elected president, is general chairman of the exposition. Other recently-elected officers of the club include Herb Wood, vice president; Charles White, secretary, and Angelo Mollica, treasurer.

SAN JUAN CLUB SECTION MEETS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—The home economics section of the Woman's club was the first unit of the club to meet this year. Members met at the home of Mrs. H. S. Barnes on McKinley avenue recently for a combined Christmas and New Year's party.

CHOIR TO SING AT H. B. CHURCH

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Music lovers of Huntington Beach and vicinity will have the opportunity of hearing the Long Beach Men's Chorus in a concert at the Christian church here next Tuesday evening, it has been announced. Between 40 and 50 members will appear, under direction of L. D. Fry, noted choir director.

Among members of the chorus from Huntington Beach and vicinity are L. E. Worthy, choir director at the local Christian church; Alf Dowty, Russell White, Victor Jacobs, J. R. Peterson, principal of Oceanview school; J. A. Murdy and Conrad Worthy.

OBSERVE CLUB'S ANNIVERSARY

SAN CLEMENTE.—Plans for celebrating the fifth anniversary of the San Clemente Woman's club Jan. 21 were completed at a business meeting, held this week in the Social clubhouse.

Miss Effie Johnston, club president, announced that a banquet and special entertainment will feature the evening.

A regular meeting of the Men's club will be held in the Social clubhouse next Tuesday evening, it has been announced. A business session and entertainment have been planned by the committee in charge.

SHERIFF TALKS AT MEETING

MIDWAY CITY.—The monthly pot-luck supper of the Community church was held in the Woman's clubhouse Wednesday evening with about 60 members present. Sheriff Logan Jackson spoke briefly on "Law Enforcement." R. R. Lutes, head of the fingerprint department of the county, gave a talk on his work, illustrated by slides.

Farm Center Meetings

Monday

Anaheim Home department. Home of Mrs. John McLeod, East North street, 2 p. m. Speaker, Miss Francis Liles, "Simplified Home Cleaning."

LAGUNA SEWER BIDS OPENED

LAGUNA BEACH.—Installation bids for the sanitary lateral sewer districts 2 and 3 were opened Wednesday night at a meeting of the city council, and the Miracle Company of San Diego submitted the lowest figures for both districts.

The three lowest figures out of a total of 11 bids submitted for district No. 2, were Miracle Company, $32,037.40; John Grancisch, $33,973.92; J. L. Kruly, $34,647.20.

Three lowest bids for district No. 3, Miracle Company, $75,-449.55; J. L. Kruly, $79,525.25, and J. C. Hickey, $85,115.25.

Councilman Cummings moved that the city engineer be instructed to file with the state director of PWA a recommendation that the two low bids of the Miracle Company be accepted. This procedure was taken because the council could not award the contract, but could only make recommendations to PWA officials.

CLUB MEETS AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY. — Mrs. Ray Miller was hostess at a luncheon Wednesday, honoring members of a contract bridge club.

Present were Mrs. Jennie Rhea Robins, Mrs. Edna Wilson, Mrs. Margaret Elliott, Mrs. Hazel Sheue, and Mrs. Gladys Calvin, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Violet Webster and Mrs. Virginia Davidson, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Ethel Cochem, Inglewood; Mrs. Nita McKay, Mrs. Iva Meairs and Mrs. Marie Braybrooks, Midway City.

MISSIONARY GROUP MEETS IN HOME AT WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG. — The Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Ted Case Wednesday afternoon. The president of the society, Mrs. Edith Gary presided.

Mrs. W. F. Slater was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. David Russell and Mrs. Alton Hall led devotionals. A tea was planned soon at the home of Mrs. Slater, for benefit of the Queen Esther society.

BEACH PARTY HONORS VISITOR

MIDWAY CITY. — Honoring Cecil Pryor, who is visiting here from Yuma, Ariz., on his birthday, a family dinner was held at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. Pryor in Huntington Beach recently. Members of the family attending from Midway City were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor, Dean and John Pryor, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pryor and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waffle and family.

The Book club will hold the first meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. Gale Dunstan on Roosevelt street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. J. A. Houlihan will review a new book on Russia.

The Buffet Supper club will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sweems on First street.

CHURCH TOPIC AT WINTERSBURG TOLD

WINTERSBURG.—At the Methodist church on Sunday morning the Rev. Joseph H. Thompson will have for the topic of his morning sermon, "A Spiritual Millionaire in Times of Depression."

The name of the speaker at the evening service has not yet been announced.

'EATING' TOPIC OF ROTARIANS

ORANGE.—"The Joy of Eating" was the topic of a talk given before the Orange Rotary club at the weekly meeting here yesterday by Paul O. Sampson, health lecturer. President Robert B. McAulay announced that the club will not meet for three weeks, due to other sessions which members plan to attend.

"Men have definite programs for feeding stock and even helpless babies," the speaker said, "but a grown person hates to be told what to eat." Americans love demineralized foods, he added, and their curse is eating too many starchy foods and not enough containing nature's salts.

Mr. Sampson branded 90 per cent of so-called health foods as "bunk." People cook too many fancy foods and cook things to death, he said, closing with the thought that what people eat today determines what they will be tomorrow. Al Huhn was program chairman.

SET DATE FOR ANNUAL FETE

NEWPORT BEACH.—The Newport Harbor chamber of commerce will hold its annual community dinner-meeting at the Newport Harbor Yacht club Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, it was announced today by Secretary Harry Welch.

Acting President S. A. Meyer has named committees to make plans for the dinner. Capt. William Brown, H. H. Williamson, J. A. Beek and J. D. Watkins will be in charge of the dinner arrangements.

An interesting program with a number of speakers will be arranged by L. W. Briggs, Mr. Meyer, A. B. Rousselle, Walter Splicer, Pres. M. J. Johnson and George Wilson.

Serving on the reception committee will be E. I. Moore, John Siegel, Lew H. Wallace, J. C. Elliott and Irvin George Gordon.

The annual election will be held and L. W. Briggs, Theo Robins and John Seigel are members of the special election committee.

FORMER RESIDENTS VISIT IN HOME AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thompson, former residents of Midway City, are guests of Mrs. Thompson's brother, Earl Waffle. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have been living in Wasco, but were recently transferred to Santa Fe Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller entertained at a family dinner last night honoring his mother, Mrs. Anna C. Miller of Newcastle, Wyo., who is their houseguest. Other members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller and Peggy, Dorothy and Dick Miller.

Indiana hunting laws do not prohibit sale of wild rabbits provided the seller does not have more than 20 in his possession at one time.

"EXTRA GIRL"

When Texas Centennial exposition officials began to select the Rangerettes, hostesses for the exposition, they planned to have one who was born in each of the 48 states. Then along came Mabel Rooks, shown above, and she passed the strict requirements. Officials found later she had been born in the District of Columbia, so they increased the corps to 50, giving themselves a little leeway in the matter of states.

STREET PAVING STARTS SOON

ANAHEIM.—Work is expected to start soon on improving and strip-paving Santa Ana street between Citron and Lemon streets as the result of approval of the project and use of the city's share of gasoline tax funds for such work within cities.

Anaheim will have $5440 for use on the project, according to Mayor Charles Mann. City Engineer E. P. Hapgood has been instructed to apply for WPA funds to complete the improvement, which will cost approximately $17,982.

POSTOFFICE AT POINT MOVED

DANA POINT.—The postoffice has been moved from its former location in the Moyer building on Roosevelt highway and is now located and open for business in the Brill triangle building on the highway. Mrs. Laura Louise Russell is postmaster, having recently been appointed to succeed Miss Helenmay Moyer, who has moved away.

COUNTY FIRE LOSS SAID DOUBLED

State Forester Scherman Reports 1935 Damage Of $76,990 Here

ORANGE.—Fire losses for 1935 in the area protected by the state forestry service were nearly double losses of the previous year, State Forester Joe Scherman reported today, in preparing his annual statement on activities of the department.

Losses during the past year totalled $76,990, he said, while in 1934 the total was $42,947. In 1935, 133 calls were answered by the state trucks, while in 1934 the equipment was called out only 76 times.

Sixty-three of last year's calls were for range grass and stubble fires, an increase of 20 calls over the previous year, he said. The fires burned over an area of 1732 acres, with a total loss of $1893. Brush and watershed fires totalled 26, with losses estimated at $10,-600 and 929 acres burned, he said.

Four hay fires cost $4300 and 20 structural blazes, all in unincorporated areas, damaged property to the extent of $45,816, the state forester reported. In 1934 structural loss was $40,770, he added.

Eleven automobile fires caused $2885 damage and miscellaneous blazes caused a loss of $291, he stated. Acreage burned during the year totalled 2661, he said.

However, Mr. Scherman estimated that property and range valued at $85,335 was saved by the department during the year. Thousands of acres of range and brush land were saved from destruction by efforts of the state equipment, it was reported.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS INSTALL AT ORANGE MEETING

ORANGE.—An open installation and inspection was held by the Royal Neighbors Wednesday night at the Smith and Grote hall with visitors present from Long Beach, Lomita and Anaheim. Mrs. Lenora Fletcher, Long Beach, was installing officer and Miss Helen Sisson, Long Beach, ceremonial marshal.

Officers installed were Mrs. Mabel Lee, past oracle; Mrs. Anna Linnartz, oracle; Mrs. Grace Durfee, vice-oracle; Mrs. Effie Winterrowd, chancelor; Mrs. Ella Cimmermaker, marshall; Mrs. Amanda Amos, assistant marshall; Mrs. Emma Wells, inner sentinal; Mrs. Murlie Harrison, outer sentinal; Mrs. Charlotte Adams and Mrs. Lucy Robinson, managers; Mrs. Dorothy Burnette, recorder; Mrs. Dolores Goodwin, receiver; Mrs. Minnie Young, flag bearer; Mrs. Ella Kilgore, musician; Mrs. Ella O'Neill, Florence Merriman, Fannie Frazier, Lucy Robinson and Ida Davis, graces.

Everyone Loves Cutwork Like This

PATTERN 5404

"How does your garden grow?" Indoors, of course, for this colorful array of cutwork flowers "grows" very quickly at the ends of your loveliest towels, or pillow slips. Flower applique—in rainbow colors—a matching set yet each one different—orchid for the violets, yellow for the tiger lily, deeper yellow and orchid for the pansies, and a chrysanthemum in soft rose, perchance, and all so easy to do—with cutwork to set off the applique design. Flowers may also be entirely of cutwork.

In pattern 5404 you will find a transfer pattern of four motifs each 5x15 inches and the back edges for each motif; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., Santa Ana, Calif.

Everything seems to be tennis news today (and most of it sounds rather good):

Who can blame the net swingers for turning pro? They are handed large and honest stacks of big money . . . which is what most of us are after in the long run. Look:

Under the Bill O'Brien banner Jane Sharp will collect $150 each week and O'Brien will pay her board bill . . . Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnolds gets $300 a week flat . . . Bruce Barnes, the Texan, gets $250 per . . . Both feed themselves . . . Each individual in the pro tennis tour which is to start soon, must take care of his or her own hotel bill, O'Brien stands for all traveling expenses.

The big salary grabbers in this racket are George Lott, Lester Stoefen and El Vines . . . Lott and Stoefen each receive 12½ per cent of the gate . . . Last year it netted them better than $20,000 each . . . Vines rated 20 per cent of the gate and so made considerably more . . . what is left is split 50-50 between Big Bill Tilden and O'Brien . . . They probably made cigaret and mansion money out of it.

More tennis items . . . A move is on foot to play the American zone Davis cup matches, between Australia and the United States, in California . . . George Lott agrees with Mrs. Helen Wills Moody that the U. S. will regain the historic cup . . . Lott figures Wilmer Allison will have the best year of his career and that he will get loads of help from Oakland's Don Budge, who came near to being the miracle man of the courts in 1935.

Ho-hum item: A paragraph in a contemporary local column attempting to cover up for previous bad mistakes by simply ignoring them and shouting in capital letters that George Lackaye "is and will be"—both of them, mind you—manager of the Santa Ana Stars . . . Nobody said he wouldn't be. As a matter of record, this page predicted the move as far back as mid-season when Bill Cole stepped out. But official announcement of the thing actually has not been made as we write this . . . that "hurried conference 10 minutes after Denney resigned" of which you might have read somewhere else, never did happen . . . so-o-o-o-o!

Open letter to the Santa Ana nightball commission: Thanks for your attitude—as expressed by two of your members—that all local papers should be invited to sit in on your sessions henceforth. HOPPE STILL TOPS

CHICAGO. (AP)—Willie Hoppe, gray-haired and 48 years old, still is the boy wonder of billiards. The famed New Yorker, who has played championship billiards 29 years through three generations of sport stars, today had a lead of 28 points over Welker Cochran, San Francisco, in his challenge match for the world's three-cushion billiard championship.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A wide-open yacht challenge event of 67-nautical miles around Catalina island, was announced today for Jan. 18. Ten boats are expected in the race to answer a "bar-none" challenge recently hurled by W. L. Stewart, jr., in behalf of his new racing schooner, Santana. Acceptance of the Stewart challenge was given by Matt Walsh, dean of western helmsmen.

AMATEUR BOXERS TAKE FRESH START

PREP CHAMPS FAVORED IN TEST HERE

Varsity, Class B Fives Perform; Alhambra, San Diego Vie

Recognized as the smoothest piece of basketball machinery to represent the Saints in many winters, Santa Ana High school's rugged varsity begins negotiating for a Coast league title tonight. Long Beach Poly, the defending champion, will be the opponent in Andrews gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Alhambra plays at San Diego in the other game.

Class B fives of the Saints and Hares will go to war at 7 o'clock in a preliminary opening the lightweight divisional race. Coach Clyde Cook's players are expected to make a good showing on the strength of a brilliant practice-game record.

Long Beach Favored

Victorious in six out of nine games, Reece (Pinky) Greene's varsity Saints have met some high class opposition in warm-ups, yet will enter tonight's fray as underdogs. Long Beach has won 10 out of 12 exhibitions, and is rated the equal of its highly successful five of '35.

Charley Church's champions lost two early struggles to Jefferson High of Los Angeles and Redondo Beach by one-goal margins, but came back with a flash to outpoint these same collections, 35-16 and 35-17, respectively. Santa Ana decisioned the Redondo cagers, 26-24.

"We will have to play near-perfect basketball to upset Long Beach," said Santa Ana's Coach Greene, who scouted the Jackrabbits against Redondo. "They are every bit as powerful as last season."

Champions of the Huntington Beach Invitational, the Saints hold victories over Tustin, Orange, Redondo, Compton, Pasadena Muir-Tech and Fullerton Their only defeat came at Whittier, 40-23.

Towering Tony Romano, ace center; Captain Bob Gorbould and Bill Brewster, forwards; and "Bud" Hoffman, guard, are the Long Beach veterans. Romona is the scoring star of the champs.

Experienced Quintet

Santa Ana will start an experienced combination averaging six feet in height and 180 pounds in weight. They are Erwin Youel and Bill Milligan, forwards; Ed Eastham, center; Sam Lockhart and Bill Flood, guards. All are lettermen. The 225-pound Milligan has been on a scoring spree the past two games, and may be "hot" tonight. Eastham has been clicking all season. Youel, Lockhart and Flood also are in top condition for their major test.

Saint Basketeers Paraded In Thumbnail Descriptions

Basketball, the speedy sport that has made a rapid rise to popularity here, has its "grand opening" in Andrews gymnasium on the Santa Ana High school campus tonight. The Saint varsity matches floor technique with Long Beach Poly, defending champion, in the first game of the Coast league season. The comparatively small seating capacity of the prep gym will be filled hurriedly by student body and adult fans. Many probably will be turned away.

The varsity conflict starts promptly following a Class B curtain-raiser at 7 o'clock.

The Journal presents thumbnail sketches of the leading Santa Ana players and their popular, efficient coach.

REECE H. (PINKY) GREENE——Heralding his present varsity as the best he has molded, Mr. Greene begins his third and perhaps most prosperous season as head coach of Saint basketball. He entertains no championship thoughts in view of the high-type opposition in the Coast league, but he does expect his polished club to win more games than it loses. The red-headed mentor is a graduate of Iowa State university, where he gained recognition in four major sports. He coached the Sioux City High school five to a state championship in 1924, and has been associated with the game for more than 15 years. Success here was climaxed by Santa Ana's winning of the Huntington Beach Invitational last month.

ERWIN YOUEL—One of five brothers to gain prominence in Saint athletics, Erwin is forward and co-captain of the varsity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Youel, 530 East Seventeenth street, Santa Ana. Alert on defense, and a better-than-average shooter, Erwin scales 152 pounds, stands 5 ft. 10½ in. A two-year letterman.

BILL MILLIGAN — Weighing 225 pounds in basketball toggery, Bill is the fastest heavyweight ever to represent the Saints on the floor. He measures 6 ft. 1½ in., and is skilled in caging shots from near the sidelines. Milligan has completely recovered from a broken arm that benched him in football. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Milligan, 522 South Flower street, Santa Ana.

ED EASTHAM—Current leader in point-manufacturing with 46 to his credit in seven practice encounters, Big Ed is a rugged senior who gained all-tournament honors at center during the big Huntington Beach Invitational. He has height—6 ft. 2 in. of it—and tips the scales at an even 185 pounds. Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eastham, 304 West Third street, Santa Ana.

SAM LOCKHART—Sam is another one of those well-built athletes, towering 6 ft. 2 in., weighing 172. He made the varsity in his sophomore year, and it is safe to say his play this season will be even greater. An accomplished shooter, a clever guard, Sam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lockhart, 1225 Highland street, Santa Ana, and the brother of Leonard Lockhart, 1935 teammate and now a regular at Santa Ana Junior college.

BILL FLOOD—Next to Youel in size, Flood is a senior and co-captain of the varsity at guard. Among his honors is the all-tournament recognition gained at the Huntington Beach Invitational. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood, 925 Lacy street, Santa Ana. Stands 5 ft. 9 in., weighs 157 pounds. Young Flood thinks quickly, moves over the court speedily.

HAROLD EASTHAM—Brother of Ed of the regulars, Hal is a 6 ft. 2 in. performer who weighs 168. His height makes him one of Coach Greene's best reserves.

LARRY TWAY—Little Larry is a sophomore transfer from Arizona who has the pleasant habit of handling the ball carefully, passing only when there is a receiver in the open. He will be a regular in '37.

BILL MUSICK—Sophomore Bill is a pretty fair guard right now, but because of the keen competition from Lockhart and Flood, he will not blossom into a regular until next season.

These are the players who will attempt to overthrow Long Beach Poly's undisputed favorites tonight.

THE SCHEDULE

Tonight—Long Beach at Santa Ana; Alhambra at San Diego.
Jan. 14—Alhambra at Santa Ana; San Diego at Long Beach.
Jan. 17—Santa Ana at San Diego; Long Beach at Alhambra.
Jan. 21—Santa Ana at Long Beach; San Diego at Alhambra.
Jan. 24—Santa Ana at Alhambra; Long Beach at San Diego.
Jan. 31—San Diego at Santa Ana; Alhambra at Long Beach.

COAST FIVES OPEN LOOP TONIGHT

Bruin Quintet Squares Off Against Indians In Palo Alto

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. (AP) Their pre-season wins and defeats relegated to the past, four Pacific Coast conference universities open their southern division race tonight and tomorrow night.

Stanford university's powerful cagers, called at home the "greatest outfit in years," will open their conference season at Palo Alto against University of California at Los Angeles.

University of California, after a disastrous barnstorming trip through the South and East, faces a stiff opener in the speedy University of Southern California quintet in a pair of battles at Los Angeles.

Among the "independents," University of San Francisco meets St. Mary's here tonight.

San Francisco State college travels to Reno for contests with University of Nevada.

The Stanford team, undefeated locally in seven starts, is given a good chance to down U. C. L. A.'s veterans. The tables might be turned easily, however, if the invaders manage to bottle up sharpshooting Angelo Luisetti, Stanford's lanky forward, as did University of Washington in a pair of pre-season games.

The St. Mary's college team will appear in new type uniforms tonight. Each player has his name printed in large letters across the back of his jersey.

Don Budge Second on Court List

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, despite his recent defeat by Arthur Hendrix, young Florida player, again led as a a candidate for the United States Davis cup team today after topping the national tennis rankings for the second year.

The rankings, marked by a wholesale revision in the "first 10," also placed the youthful Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., and Byran M. (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta in the forefront of cup team prospects.

Budge Second

Budge, ranked ninth last year, his first time in the big 10, was advanced to second place, and Grant was moved from tenth to third. The 31-year-old Allison, conqueror of England's Fred Perry in the national championships, has been a "first 10" player for eight successive years.

OAKLAND'S BUDGE
From Ninth to Second

The others in the first 10: Frank X. Shields, Sidney Wood, and Gregory S. Mangin, New York; Frank Parker, Milwaukee; J. Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J.; Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., and Berkeley Bell, Texas.

Bell, who turned professional after the outdoor season closed, makes his debut as a paid player here Saturday.

Shields and Wood, who is in an Iowa hospital after an emergency appendicitis operation, also are considered likely candidates for Davis cup berths, as is the youthful Parker.

May Add Two

Allison and John Van Ryn, the No. 1 doubles team, probably will get the call for the international competition. Hines and Henry M. Culley of Santa Barbara, Calif., ranked third, may be added to the squad as a reserve team. Budge and Gene Mako of Los Angeles were rated the No. 2 doubles combination.

The rankings, which will not become official until the formality of approval is completed by the annual United States Lawn Tennis Association at Philadelphia next month, list Helen Hull Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., as No. 1 woman player for the fourth successive year.

Her only rival for the place, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, was unranked because of insufficient data. She played only in England last summer, winning the Wimbledon championship.

THREE BOUTS TO HEADLINE SHOW HERE

Eddie Grogan Battles Jimmy Davis; Lupe Cordoza Bows Out

Sam A. Sampson, enterprising Orange county sports promoter, tonight holds his first amateur boxing program of 1936 when he stages an eight-bout card, headed by a triple main event at the Orange County Athletic club on Highway 101 between Anaheim and this city.

Determined to make boxing as popular as he has wrestling Sampson has lined up new talent for ring addicts. Past performances of the game here are to be outdone, Sampson asserts.

The three feature scraps bring together Eddie (One Punch) Grogan vs. Jimmy Davis, middleweights; Lupe Cardoza vs. Matty Matos, bantamweights and Indian Al Grayson vs. "Wild Bill" White, lightweights.

Grogan Run-out?

There is, however, a chance Grogan won't appear, as it was reported late last night that the Irishman is turning professional rather than risk running into a knockout at the hands of Davis, who is rated a terrific puncher and picked by many as a two-to-one better fighter than the California amateur titleholder.

If Grogan fails to show Sampson will move the White-Grayson match to the top and shoot Julian Estrada, San Bernardino Mexican middleweight into the Davis fight.

Everything considered tonight's program figures to attract a good size turnout. "The battle between White and Grayson should result into a riot of leather pitching," says Sampson. "White is nothing short of sensational and is regarded as the best lightweight developed around San Bernardino since the days of Johnny Adams."

Cordoza vs. Matos

Lupe Cordoza may be making his last amateur fight in this section in the other feature, when he tangles with the Greek, Matty Matos. Cordoza hops a train tomorrow morning and goes to San Francisco where he is entered in the Catholic Youth Organization tourney Monday night. Lupe plans to turn professional after the San Francisco bout which will be for the state title, reports say.

Paul Saucedo and Larry Ledford are expected to wage a great scrap and much interest is displayed in the debut of Jimmy Woodruff, Anaheim light-heavy, who meets Chief Tillaquots. Maxie Moore draws Al Flores and Frenchy Salzar opposes Art Arroya. Baby Rosales mixes with Tony Larrio in an alternate match, should the scheduled Barago-Estrado bout fall through.

Citrus Five, Here Saturday to Open Loop, May Start Clicking

OWL QUINTET POTENTIALLY POWERFUL

What kind of aggregation has Citrus, the Eastern conference opponent with whom Santa Ana's Dons cope in their basketball inaugural here tomorrow night?

Al Reboin

Jovial Al Clayes, one-time Santa Ana grid star and present coach of the Azusa Owls, answered that question for The Journal today. "We miss Big Jim Henderson, our stellar center; and "Buzz" Smythe, guard, from 1935, but I have a team that might start clicking at any time," he said.

Citrus brings here a potentially powerful lineup containing two holdovers from the quintet that bowled over Santa Ana, 46 to 21, on the Azusa court last winter. They are George Kelly, forward, and Bob Ford, guard.

Newcomers who will attempt to pace the Owls to victory over Al Reboin's clever combination are "Dusty" Rhodes, 6 feet 2 inch center from Citrus Union High school; Ed Connell, guard from Chicago; and "Bucky" O'Conner, forward from Denver.

Coach Reboin, who makes his debut in the Eastern conference basketball fraternity tomorrow, has named a probable Santa Ana lineup of Tommy Lacy and Harry Stanley, forwards; Fred Erdhaus, center; Leonard Lockhart and John Jennison or Clarence Riggs, guards. These Dons were mainly responsible for Santa Ana's surprise 42-25 practice victory over the Pomona college varsity Wednesday.

WANTED: NEW GRID RULES

Seek Protection For Preps

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Ways and means of providing additional protection for prep football players were under consideration today as the rules committee of the national federation of high school athletic associations met for its annual two-day session.

It was likely, said Henry V. Porter of Chicago, secretary of the committee, that the intermission time between the first and second, and third and fourth sessions was expected to be increased to two or three minutes, and the 12 minutes between halves boosted to 15.

Porter said statistics indicate that most of the serious injuries on prep gridirons occur near the start of the second half. Feeling that lack of proper warming up may be partly responsible, coaches, in answers to questionnaires, have suggested an extra three minutes between halves, devoted to limbering up exercises.

The rule prohibiting roughing, or tackling a ball carrier after he has gone out of bounds, was due for strengthening. Porter said officials in the 14 states which have adopted the national federation code would be told to enforce strictly the anti-roughing rule.

While no drastic changes in the rules were planned, questionnaire responses indicated that the forward passing regulations needed clarification. National federation rules permit passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, and some difficulty with tosses from beyond the line has been encountered.

CARDS TO USE SANDLOTTERS FOR SOLON BALL TEAM

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Branch Rickey, after an all-day conference with managers of the St. Louis Cardinal chain system, exploded a baseball bombshell last night by announcing he would build the Sacramento team in the Coast league with players recruited from California's semi-professional and amateur diamond ranks.

Baseball experts here regarded the plan as a sensational innovation in view of the fact the Coast league is one of the three leading circuits in the minors.

The Cardinal field general said a training camp would be opened Feb. 1 for the rookies. William Walsingham, jr., member of the Cardinal organization, and Scout Joe Schultz will leave for the Coast tomorrow to round up aspirants.

They will be faced with the task of building a completely new club, for every player on the 1935 roster was sold before the Cardinals purchased the Sacramento franchise.

"This, of course, is a far departure from anything that has ever been undertaken in baseball," Rickey said, "but I know there are enough talented young players on the Coast to build a good Class AA team, and it's our job to find them."

ONTARIO PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Ontario's 1935 champions come to Santa Ana for a Southern California Y. M. C. A. league fray with the Woolen Mills on the "Y" court at 8 o'clock tonight.

Manager Quentin Matzen's five hopes to stage a comeback after successive defeats from Alhambra and Orange by narrow margins, 28-25 and 32-28. The Woolen Mills' cagers won their first of three starts from South Pasadena by the impressive score of 79-22. Ed Stephen and Fred Wiemer, forwards; Hal Spangler, center; Russell Sullivan and Joe McChesney, guards, will start.

The golfing army of the United States totals between 2,500,000 and 3,250,000.

NAZARENE FIVE SCORES UPSET

Al Lounsbury's Nazarenes upset the United Brethren, 27-18, and the Latter Day Saints (Mormons) plastered Christian Missionary Alliance, 51 to 31, in Community Church league basketball last night.

129 GOLFERS AFTER GOLD OF L. A. OPEN TOURNEY

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—One hundred and twenty-nine golfers stood on the firing line today waiting to tee off in the eleventh annual Los Angeles $5000 Open.

Lured west by gold and glory staked out along California's winter tournamentt rail, many of the greatest names in golf were entered.

The schedule, unless a long-overdue seasonal rain breaks in, calls for the first round 18 holes today, 18 tomorrow and the 36-hole championship round Sunday.

The original field of around 200 was pared down to a playable number in a qualifying round two days ago. Every favorite came through without mishap, but several noteworthy contenders fell by the wayside.

A dozen and more professionals figured as the most feared in the field. MacDonald Smith, four-time winner of the event; Horton Smith, recent Pasadena Open winner; Harold McSpaden, runner-up in the last three tournaments in Southern California; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., who won the Los Angeles cup last year in a tough play-off with Johnny Revolta—these were a few of the favorites.

Equally dangerous are Jimmy Hines, Long Island pro, who breezed in eight strokes in front to win the Riverside Open last Sunday; Paul Runyan, leading professional low-scorer in 1935, and Walter Hagen, Craig Wood, Harry Cooper, Leo Diegel, Olin Dutra, Willie Hunter, Willie Goggin, Orville White, Jimmy Thomson, Henry Picard, Ky. Laffoon and Sam Parks, jr., national Open king.

HAUPTMANN'S LAST HOPE TO APPEAR ON CLEMENCY PLEA FAILS

PARDON BODY NOT TO SIT AT PRISON

Board Meets Tomorrow Morning At 10:30 To Consider Case

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 10. (AP)—The last hope of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to make a personal appearance before the court of pardons failed today when Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's office announced the court would not meet at the state prison.

The governor, through William S. Conklin, his press aide, said the court, convening tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., to consider Hauptmann's plea for clemency, would meet as usual at the executive offices.

One Remote Change

A meeting at state prison would have been without precedent, but Governor Hoffman's delay in announcing where the court would sit had been taken by some as an indication he hoped for a last-minute statement from the man convicted of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder.

The one remote chance of Hauphmann appearing before the court lay in the possibility defense counsel might make allegations necessitating Hauptmann's corroboration. In that event, the court could adjourn to state prison, a mile and a half away, and call the prisoner.

Hauptmann himself, however, has refused to elaborate on his old statements, and his insistence that he has nothing new to tell dimmed his chances of escaping the electric chair one week from tonight.

Letter to Be Shown

Hoffman will deliver to the court a letter affirming Hauptmann's innocence, signed "J. J. Faulkner," a name that has long been one of the mysteries of the four-year-old Lindbergh kidnap-murder case. The name was signed to a deposit slip in 1933 when $2980 of the ransom money was put in a New York bank.

The governor said the signatures on letter and slip were "similar." He awaited a full report from an unidentified New York handwriting expert to whom he submitted the letter.

Social Security Law May Face Test Before Supreme Court; What's to Be Fate?

Something new—social security—went into effect Jan. 1 in California, as well as in the United States. How will it work? The following is the ninth of a series of articles answering that question.—Editor.

By ROCH BRADSHAW

What fate does the supreme court hold in store for the social security program, one of President Roosevelt's most ambitious and far-reaching New Deal projects?

Will the program maintain itself and achieve the benefits which its sponsors hope for it? Or will the nation's highest tribunal slap it down as it did the NRA and the AAA?

No one knows. The trend seems to be against New Deal legislation. Chief Justice Charles Evan Hughes once made the remark, when he wasn't on the bench: "We are living under a constitution, but the constitution is what the judges say it is."

What Will Judges Say?

There you have it. What will the judges say the constitution is when they come to pass on the tremendous social security program?

The act can hardly be tested before 1937, when the federal treasury starts collecting taxes.

Justice Owen J. Roberts last spring held that the railroad retirement act violated the due process and interstate commerce clauses of the constitution. He was disputed by Mr. Hughes. Which might indicate that the supreme court may be divided when it comes to rule on the social security program.

One thing, however, is probably certain. Employers will contest the unemployment insurance and old age benefit sections of the social security program. These are the phases of the project on which employers will have to pay taxes.

What grounds exist for criticism?

Opponents stress its duplication of taxes, the confusion sure to follow the fact that states will have varying systems of cooperating with the federal government, the failure to use income taxation for financing, and the likelihood of administrative complications.

The Taxation Angle

Another feature undoubtedly scheduled for attack is the taxation of one group for the benefit of another. Opponents of the program will ask what direct benefits are to accrue to employers who pay the unemployment insurance tax. The benefits are designed for employes, not employers. Yet employers will have to pay their share of the tax, as well as carry on the accounting necessary to determine the amount of the employes' contributions.

All of which indicates that the social security program, like the NRA and the AAA has yet to face the supreme test of its existence.

'36 AVOCADO CROP MOVES RAPIDLY

Average Returns for November Greatest Since in 1932

The 1936 avocado crop is now moving from California to the eastern markets in a big way. The peak of the movement will be reached before May, according to an announcement by the Calavo Growers of California. Midwestern, eastern and southern markets are now taking about 30 per cent of the total movement, this being the highest percentage ever achieved.

The new crop will total about one-half that of 1935.

Net average returns per box for November were the highest since September, 1932, according to George B. Hodgkin, manager of Calavo Growers. At their height, Calavo Fuerte avocados averaged their growers $1.86 per packed box at their groves, compared to 71 cents a year ago. Group B Fuertes averaged $1.61, compared to 50 cents a year ago. The average for all grades and varieties was $1.68 per packed box, three times that of the November pool for 1934.

The Calavo Growers in 1934-1935 marketed the equivalent of 636 carloads of fruit, four times the largest previous crop ever handled.

Newspaper advertising, used effectively to create new demand last season, will be utilized again this year, Mr. Hodgkin said.

AIR FORCES FOR HAWAII INCREASED

U. S. To Have Command Of Middle Pacific In Two More Years

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Uncle Sam's air strength in the Hawaiian Islands will be increased four-fold under a procurement program now under way.

Col. Delos C. Emmons, chief of the army's air groups in the islands, disclosed today that under the new program the United States would have full command of the middle Pacific by 1938.

He said the army's air strength on the defended island of Oahu now comprises two groups of only 104 planes, most of which are obsolete, but that the present program will provide two full wings of modern, high-performance pursuit, attack, long-range reconnaissance and bombardment squadrons. He declined to disclose the number of planes that will be on hand by 1938.

"By that time, however, we will have full command of the middle Pacific," Colonel Emmons said. "This command will extend over a 1500-mile radius from Oahu, with our new high-speed, long-range reconnaissance and bombardment groups. I think it equally important for proper defense of our Pacific frontier that a similar force be established in Alaska.

"This should have an interior base, perhaps at Fairbanks, but more important, to my mind, is an operating base in the Aleutian Islands, at Dutch Harbor, on Unalaska or on an island as far westward as weather conditions will permit."

Agriculture Is in Wallace Blood; Henry IV Takes It Up

Two generations of Henry Wallaces—the secretary of agriculture and his son, a student at Iowa State college.

Cabinet Member's Son Is Student at Iowa State College

AMES, Ia., Jan. 10. (AP)—A tall, clean-cut youth of 21, whose father guides the farm policies of the nation, is learning the ABC's of agriculture at Iowa State college.

He is Henry Wallace IV, son of the secretary of agriculture.

Three generations of trail-blazing in agriculture have left their imprint on young Wallace. He is studying agronomy (a course of his own choosing) and he is keenly interested in poultry raising.

He plans later to study genetics, a field in which his father pioneered, and perhaps to make it his life's work.

In The Family Blood

"You can't breed agriculture out of the family's blood," he says.

The Wallaces have blazed a well-marked trail through the agricultural division here. In 1869, when the division boasted a half-score of students who spent as much time in the fields as in the classrooms, Henry I brought "Tama" Jim Wilson to the school as dean of agriculture.

Through this agricultural scholastic mill next went Henry II, who later became secretary of agriculture under Presidents Wilson and Harding.

Then came Henry III, the present secretary of agriculture, whose curiosity to know why corn grew the way it did brought him recognition as a geneticist.

Likeness of Father

Henry IV, a living likeness of his father, is considered a better-than-average student, but he says he is not out to make a scholastic record. Nor does he intend to become a "campus leader." Later, he says, he may work on the undergraduate agricultural magazine and take some journalism.

He stands nearly six feet tall, has brown hair and eyes and wears a ready smile.

RAISE CRUDE PRICES

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 10. (AP)—The Texas Company yesterday increased its purchase price for Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas crude oil 5 to 15 cents a barrel. The Sun and Humble previously had announced increases and other major purchasers were expected to take similar action.

SET 'SIGN-UP' FOR PENSION CANDIDATES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10. (AP) A state-wide "sign-up session" Jan. 24 to qualify Townsend plan candidates for a place on the presidential primary ballot was announced last night by Sheridan Downey, leader in the pension movement.

Downey said 600,000 members of 1000 California Townsend clubs will meet the night of Jan. 24 to sign petitions.

In One Night

"We need only about 23,000 signatures to qualify the Townsend party," the former candidate for lieutenant-governor said, "and we'll get them, and then some, that one night.

"Prior to the general election next November, the Townsend party in California will have more members than either the Democratic or Republican groups."

Downey Authorizes

Downey has been authorized by Dr. F. E. Townsend, author of the pension plan, to direct formation of the third party. What part the new group will play in impending congressional and presidential elections remains to develop, said Downey.

"Dr. Townsend has stated that if either of the major parties sincerely adopts his old age pension plan, the Townsend organization will not run its own candidates in opposition to that party's nominees," he declared.

STRONG MAN'S LEER CHANGED TO GRIN

HOLLYWOOD.—A broad smile creased the face of Galen Gough, professional strong man, today. It was an event. For 17 years he hadn't been able to grin. Serving overseas as a marine in the World war, Gough suffered a wound that paralyzed one side of his face. When he tried to smile, it looked like a gangster's leer. Surgeons recently operated to relieve the condition. As they removed the bandages, Gough said, "I feel like a different man, and I hope people will take me at my face value now." He smiled.

COUNTY BAR WILL MEET ON JAN. 15

Secretary George Parker of the Orange County Bar association, has announced the regular dinner meeting of the association to be held on Jan. 15, at 6:30 p. m., James cafe. The guest speaker will be Supervisor LeRoy Lyon, who will talk on "Ballistics," a science which has been greatly developed in the past few years.

LOANS HIGHER ON PROPERTY

A substantial increase in public and private mortgage lending on farm property and homes has been shown by a recent survey, according to Ellis C. Diehl, manager of the Santa Ana Building and Loan association. This upward trend follows a six-year period of steady decline, he said.

Life insurance companies, said Mr. Diehl, make loans on farms and practically every type of improved city property, and have outstanding approximately 3.7 times more loans on city property than on farms. In the past, these organizations favored short-term loans with small annual amortization, but now many companies are making loans on both urban and city property for long periods and requiring complete amortization during the life of the mortgage.

Commercial banks and trust companies have city loans amounting to 5.7 times their farm loans, while savings banks lend almost exlcusively on city property, said Mr. Diehl. Of late the 10-year maturity plan has gained popularity, but many loans run for one, three or five years, he said.

Mortage lending practices among the more than 11,000 building and loan associations exhibit more uniformity, said Mr. Diehl. Loans are made almost exclusively on urban residential property. Loans generally run about 12 years and are amortized during this period by regular monthly payments.

Mr. Diehl said farm loans by insured banks, trust companies and life insurance companies total $1,658,702,000. Loans on other than farm property total $17,361,881,000, making a grand total of $19,020,583,000. These latter loans are itemized as follows: banks and trust companies, $2,834,166,000; mutual savings banks, $5,500,000,000; life insurance companies, $4,259,662,000, and building and loan associations, $4,767,053,000.

French Drama Has Kept Up With Attitudes of Post-War Life, Says Belle

AAUW Hears Survey of Stage

Section Meetings Slated For Full Calendar In January

"The contemporary French Theater is faithful to a curiosity of analysis of the human heart and the interest of philosophical and social questions of the environment of today."

That was the culminating remark of Professor Rene Belle, University of Southern California French department, in an address on the modern stage in France, before the Orange county branch of the American Association of University Women last night at a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. club rooms.

Names Schools

He traced schools of the French stage which have developed since the World War. Jean Jacques Bernard worked on the theory of silence with "Matine," his best piece. Victor Pellerin followed with plays of cynicism. The comedy of morals was best illustrated by Marcel Pagnol's productions. Jules Romain has brought idealism and studies of philosophical and social problems of the theater, the speaker explained.

Next month's meeting under Mrs. John Tessman is to be a book exchange. Members will bring used books and exchange them with a fee for others which have been contributed to the mart. A. A. U. W. juniors are to assist at the exchange. A committee including Mrs. Lawrence Minge, Miss Helen Estock, Mrs. Walter Bacon, Mrs. Wendell Finley and Miss Marjorie Woods will be in direct assistance.

To Discuss Purchasing

"Scientific Consumer Purchasing" will be the topic of a discussion for the Consumer Education section under Mrs. Robert Horn next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. The home economics section has been invited to meet with the group. Mrs. Horn will discuss sources of consumer education. Miss Ruth Rowland will talk on "Clothing Problems." "Food" will be discussed by Mrs. Vern Bishop and Miss Huberteen Kueneman will give a review of "Skin Deep."

The International Relations section will meet Jan. 22 in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 3:15 o'clock.

Plans for furthering the college advisory project of the juniors were made at their dinner meeting at the Doris Kathryn tea shoppe preceding the meeting. Miss Lucy McDermott is in charge of the project. Miss Helen Bower is arranging a research department on schools and colleges for use of junior college and high school girls. Mrs. Minge is directing personnel work. A tea will be given for the graduates under the direction of Mrs. Alfred Paine.

Miss Ruth Frothingham poured at a tea table, centered with a bowl of golden poppies. The committee included Miss Marjorie Woods, Miss Inez Hickman and Miss Mary Beasley.

REBEKAH TEAM BUSY INSTALLING

District Deputy Blanche Chandler's Rebekah installing team is having a busy season of it.

Last night they went to Huntington Beach to seat executives of the Rebekah lodge. Jan. 14 they will install heads of Westminster, with joint installation the following night at Fullerton for Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Jan. 16, 10 members of the local Rebekahs will act as escorts for the I. O. O. F. rites. Jan. 17, joint installation will be held at Anaheim.

Orange Rebekahs will be seated Jan. 20; Torosa, Jan. 22; and Sycamore, Jan. 25.

ACTIVITIES SLATED AT ORANGE CHURCH

Orange Avenue Christian church is facing an active program. Wednesday night, 50 from the congregation sat down to pot-luck dinner at the church at a family night. Eli Walker's "country church" program concluded the evening.

Next Friday night, Jan. 17, a church dinner will be held in the Educational building at 6:30 o'clock, according to plans made Wednesday by the ladies' council, when they met to quilt.

FORMER MISSIONARY TO CUBA TALKS TO SOCIETY

Experiences as a missionary to Cardenas, Cuba, were related by Miss Allie May Arey for members of the First Presbyterian church missionary society at their meeting Wednesday at the church.

The speaker had been a teacher for 12 years in schools there.

Mrs. G. W. Leive, captain for the day, introduced Mrs. O. Scott McFarland who gave the devotionals on New Year's resolutions. Mrs. Whitford Hall sang "My Task," accompanied by her husband.

Mrs. R. J. Blee sketched work being done by missionaries in foreign countries. Mrs. J. R. Moore followed opening ceremonies by reading a New Year's poem. Mrs. H. K. Pollock played piano solos.

DIE TANTZE CLUB STARTS NEW YEAR WITH NOVELTIES

Novelty dances to acquaint strangers at Die Tantze club featured the opening dance of the season Wednesday night.

Miss Helen Glancy and John K. Schrier were hostess and host for the occasion. Miss Marie Smith served punch.

The affairs are being held every Wednesday night for young working men and women. Ed Wood's music is used.

FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE IS ORGANIZED

A new organization got underway Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Hope, 1126 North Flower street, when officers were elected and a slogan chosen for the Friendship circle of the Church of Christ.

Mrs. Hope was named president, Mrs. J. B. Smith, vice president; Mrs. Joe Kelly, secretary, and Mrs. Mabel Sherwood, secretary.

From Proverbs 18:24, the following slogan was accepted for the organization: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

Pot-luck luncheon was served, devotionals held, and the remainder of the afternoon spent in quilting. Meetings are to be held every Wednesday.

FRIENDS SURPRISE MRS. CARRIE PECK ON BIRTHDAY

Having a birthday meant an evening of surprises for Mrs. Carrie F. Peck last Sunday night when members of the Orange Avenue Christian church gathered at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Verne Bishop, 719 Hickory, to extend compliments.

The party assembled following evening service and surprised the honoree, who is active in the church.

Refreshments were served. Singing entertained the group.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stickler, Miss Alice Whitten, Miss Vivian Switzler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gerrard, Miss Etta M. Conkle, J. J. DE GLADE DAMER MEETS AT HARDING HOME

Mrs. William Harding, 526 South Van Ness, was hostess to members of De Glade Damer at an afternoon meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Little Vera McVey did several tap dance numbers and gave a reading. The afternoon was spent doing needlework. Mrs. Herbert Thwaite assisted Mrs. Harding in serving refreshments.

Others present were Mesdames Harrison White, Lelia Huffman, Esther Hawley, Sophie McComb, Margaret Golden, Richard Grimes, Effie Kyte and Thelda Graham.

Mrs. White at 802 South Birch street will be hostess to the group Jan. 29.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think contracting parties should be made to take a physical examination before marriage?

Mrs. Thomas B. Rhone: My opinion is that it is a good idea, and probably would save a lot of grief in later life.

Miss Helen Culp: The answer will have to be "yes." There are many physical misfits in the world that owe their misfortune to the physical unfitness of a parent. If people take care of their own bodies in the proper manner, they will expect a like care for the bodies of their mates. If young people knew they would be asked to submit to such an examination they would think twice before abusing their health.

State Head To Visit Y. L. I. Chapter

Attention turned to making arrangements for the annual visit of the state president of the Y. L. I., Mrs. Genevieve Manning, San Francisco, at a meeting of Capistrano chapter last night in the K. of C. hall.

The executive is to make her inspection Feb. 13. Mrs. Emil Wetzel has been named chairman of a committee for the dinner and decorations on that occasion with Mrs. Edward Bruning appointed chairman of a refreshments committee.

Mrs. Tom Gisler, vice president, officiated in the absence of Mrs. William Maag, president, last night. In the play of hearts, which concluded the evening, prizes went to Miss Margaret Holtz, Mrs. Josie Klingman and Mrs. Frances Moreland.

Refreshments were served by a committee including Miss Margaret Young, Mrs. William Faulkner, Mrs. Ray Whitten and Miss Agnes Holtz.

PLAY CLOSES FOR BEACH BRIDGE CLUB

The fifth Laguna Beach bridge club, which has held sessions in the Community club for the past 23 weeks, terminated Tuesday evening with Mrs. Maurice MacMillan holding high score in the women's section and Charles Jester heading the men.

Mrs. MacMillan, president of the Laguna Little Slam club, won with a score of 1514 and an average of 66 points a session as against a 60-point average a session for the rest of the players. Ralph Frost, jr., president of the Orange County Bridge association and conductor of the tournament, announced that Mrs. MacMillan's score was one of the most outstanding ever held here.

Other winners were: third, Mrs. Everett Tawney; fourth, Frank Hevener; fifth, Mrs. Carl Benson; sixth, Mrs. Charles Jester; seventh, Mrs. Leanard Jones, and eighth, J. B. Andres. Prizes will be given the first place winners in the men's and women's divisions.

Marian Martin Slip and Pantie Set Made In Double Quick Time

PATTERN 9662

Sleek comfort's written between the very seams of this slip and pantie set that's dedicated to smooth-fitting and easy making. And what feminine heart wouldn't adore several sets just like it! They're within everyone's reach, and their low cost makes them an out-and-out economy. The slip does a nice job of molding the figure, with its fitted bodice and all-in-one straps that can't slip. The neckline's cut low enough in back to allow it to be worn with your lowest cut frocks. And could anything be smoother than waistband panties which lie flat. A non-shrinkable rayon or crepe is nice. You'll want satin trimmed with dainty lace for best. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 9662 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, the Style Number and Size of each pattern.

Be sure to send for our new Pattern Book and see how easily your spring wardrobe can reflect the latest fashions! Dozens of smart models for every occasion —some sketched, some photographed. Lovely new fabrics and how to make best use of them. New costume accessories. Smart slenderizing styles. Clothes budget hints. Patterns for the whole family. Price of book 15 cents. Book and a pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Dept., 117 East Fifth St., Santa Ana, Calif.

Ambitious Is Headed For Spinsterhood, Claims Youthful Reader Today

By MARY STODDARD

I certainly walked into a hot-bed when I told Ambitious to stay with her books and career for several years until she had found herself and knew whether she could manage career and a husband. One woman told me from her own experience she'd been unhappy and today's young reader feels I've destined Ambitious to spinsterhood.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I thought, Miss Stoddard, from some of the advice you've given that you were a pretty bright woman who was broad-minded and knew what the score was, but you certainly went haywire on your words of wisdom to Ambitious.

What girl wants to sit around and plan for a career when there's a good time to be had. I'm just as smart as anybody else and could get all the good grades I wanted to and be successful in any kind of work. But I know better than that. No woman should fool around with business or a profession when she can do such a better job getting a man to take her places and take care of her and someday give her a good home.

Ambitious will be old and gray-headed before she ever gets a man if she's going to keep on being efficient and smart. No fellow wants a girl to act smarter than he is. She should "oh and ah" them, and then she'd really get somewhere. Being weak and helpless is the thing that counts.

She'll always be just a pal to the fellows if she follows up that line. I've heard them talk. "Good old Alice or Jane, or whatever her name is; now there's a real pal," they say.

"Yeh, good old horse," is what they're thinking. You'd better write some more advice to Ambitious and get her on the right track. SUCCESSFUL.

WHITTIER STAFF INSTALLS LAGUNA RELIEF CORPS

Installation of officers of the Laguna Beach Woman's Relief Corps was held in the American Legion hall, in Laguna, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Levina Stanley of Whittier, president of Federation No. 1 and chaplain of the state department of the Federation of Women's Relief Corps, was installing officer.

Dressed in pastel lace and net gowns, the staff took their installation posts, with Mrs. Stanley reading an original poem for each officer. Mrs. Stanley and her staff each received a gift, while officers installed wore corsages prepared by Esther May Handy.

Eileen Bradley sang several numbers, accompanied by Miss Sadie Shields on the piano. Miss Merle Swingle entertained with two violin selections, and she was accompanied by Miss Evangeline Piety.

Officers for the coming year who were installed Tuesday evening are: President, Mrs. Matilda Dunlap; senior vice president, Mrs. Florence Switzer; junior vice president, Mrs. Edna Austin; chaplain, Mrs. Emma Matimer; treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Johnson; conductor, Mrs. Esther May Handy, and guard, Mrs. Nina Stewart. Appointive officers installed were: Secretary, Mrs. Helena Cummings; musician; Mrs. Ann Johnson; assistant conductor, Mrs. Bernice Graham; assistant guard, Mrs. Dolan Hansen; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Ethel Burns; press correspondent, Mrs. Nellie Hawley; first color bearer, Mrs. Clara Warman; second color bearer, Mrs. Claire Swingle; third color bearer, Mrs. Myrtle Flynn, and fourth color bearer, Mrs. Julia Hayward.

'NEW OPPORTUNITIES' IS THEME CHOSEN FOR FEDERATION YEAR

"Let's put enthusiasm into a new opportunity for service and growth" is the New Year's message sent out by Mrs. W. D. James, president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, as she prepares for a trip to Washington, D. C., to attend her first meeting as a director of the executive board of the General Federation of Women's clubs and also as a delegate to the 11th conference on the cause and cure of war.

The board of directors of the general federation will meet at headquarters in Washington, D. C., Jan. 14-18, with the president, Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, presiding.

The conference on the cause and cure of war for which Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, honorary chairman, has issued the call, will be held in the Hall of Nations at the Hotel Washington, Jan. 21-24, inclusive. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is the largest member organization of the conference and will have 100 delegates in attendance.

Mrs. James will return home to preside over the state executive board meeting in San Francisco, Jan. 30 and 31.

MRS. STEPHENSON TO PRESENT REVIEW

Mrs. T. E. Stephenson will review Thornton Wilder's last novel, "Heaven Is My Destination" at the Jan. 23 meeting of Ebell Thursday literature section.

Mrs. Harry Williams and Mrs. J. L. Bascom will be hostesses to the group in the Ebell clubhouse lounge.

JUNIOR EBELLES TO MEET IN HOME

Bridge will be the entertainment program at the Jan. 20 meeting of the household economics section of Junior Ebell in the home of Mrs. Robert Haffner, 1527 West Eighth street.

Mrs. N. O. Evans will assist with the hostess duties. Members will contribute 10 cents apiece for the prize fund.

Tux 'n Gown Sets Feb. 1 For Dance

There's a dance in the air.

That's for information of Tux and Gowners. Cards will be sent this week inviting them to the February formal, at the Santa Ana Country club set for the first day of the month.

Plans were made last night at a board meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Guild, 930 South Broadway. Hume West, secretary-treasurer, is in charge of obtaining the orchestra. Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Miss Lolita Mead and Miss Loretta Spangler were also present. Other members of the board include Dick Ewert, Miss Mary Safley and Mrs. Kellar Watson, jr.

Guests will be admitted to the dance by card only. Out-of-county guests are also invited to the affair.

'Frisco Kid' Opens Here

"Frisco Kid," thrilling tale of the glamorous Barbary coast of old San Francisco, opened at the Broadway theater yesterday with an all-star cast headed by James Cagney, Margaret Lindsay, Ricardo Cortez and Lili Damita. The second feature on the program is "Daddy O'Day," starring little Jane Withers.

The film "Frisco Kid" is set in the colorful background of the early fifties when the waterfront at the Golden Gate was a flaming panorama of gilded gambling halls and palaces of pleasure; when murder, arson and robbery was winked at by the authorities who derived huge revenues in bribes from denizens of the underworld.

"Paddy O'Day" is the story of a little girl, traveling alone to America, who finds a home and happiness after a series of thrilling adventures. The cast includes, besides Jane Withers, Pinky Tomlin, Rita Cansino, Jane Darwell, George Givot, Francis Ford and others.

EL CAMINO HOTEL TO BE MEET PLACE

El Camino hotel, Laguna Beach, has been set as the meeting place at noon next Tuesday for the meeting of the Fifth Household Economics section of Ebell club.

Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. Severin Schulte, Mrs. D. A. Harwood, Mrs. Claude Reams and Mrs. Marguerite Borgemeyer.

Members unable to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Harwood at 3771 or Mrs. Schulte at 3070, before Saturday evening.

AMBER CIRCLE HAS BRIDGE PLAY

Bridge and sewing took attention of Amber circle members at a luncheon at the Masonic temple yesterday.

The prize in contract went to Mrs. Pliny Chapin; in auction to Mrs. Mary Walters, and in sewing to Miss Henrietta Bohling.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Neil Beisel, Thomas Brooks, Howard N. Brothers, Joe C. Burke, Bertha Berry, C. F. Mitchell, Joseph F. Catherina and Theo. Winbigler.

MRS. MAY CURTIS ENTERTAINS CLUB

Martha Washington club members were guests of Mrs. May Curtis, 222 South Main street, Wednesday at a luncheon. Silent sisters were chosen for the coming year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jernigan is to have the group at her home, 701 North Bristol, Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Present besides the hostess were Mesdames Mamie Zimmerman, Sarah House, Elizabeth Jernigan, May Jackson, Pauline Decker, Stella Henderson, Inez Baker, Beth McDonald, Ruth J. Zabel, A. M. Summersville, Millie West and Hattie Peters.

A survey in connection with the coming Olympic games showed there are 19,130 eating places in Berlin, of which 11,200 are licensed to serve alcoholic drinks.

F. D. R. TAKES LEAD WITH MESSAGE

Advice of Many Aides Ignored by President In Making Plans

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Startling and unprecedented as was President Roosevelt's decision to make his message to congress a "fireside chat" politicians here were not surprised after they had recovered from the shock.

"FDR" has been doing such things all along.

All of the President's close advisors from the beginning of his administration have attempted without success to persuade him to go first to congress about the things he intends congress to do.

When Lewis Douglas was director of the budget he tried it. Frank C. Walker as chairman of the national emergency council, Donald Richberg of NRA, Charles West, the White House's liaison man with capitol hill—all have made the same futile effort.

There have been times in the past when this seeming attitude of neglect has caused him trouble. All are agreed, however, that in this particular instance he has nothing to fear.

Large Audience

Aside from the sheer brilliance of the President's move as regards politics and his daring in defying precedent, the really significant thing is that he thought up such a method of getting an audience.

The supreme court will speak often in the coming weeks and to a tremendous audience. One of the best sounding boards in the country is the floor of either senate or house. Orators of the American Liberty League, headed by Al Smith, will be assailing administration policies and the President from now on with the whole nation listening.

Mr. Roosevelt's decision to take the nation in on his annual message to congress thus combining a duty imposed on him by the constitution with a political defense of his administration, not only gives him the first and largest audience but also congress itself as his sounding board.

Carefully Planned

That the President had this in mind no one here doubts. It was demonstrated by the manner in which the whole affair was arranged The administration's closest advisors in congress were the last to be told of his plan.

The time for broadcasting first was reserved. Newspapermen who cover the White House then heard rumors that the President's annual message was to be made a "fireside chat." It was not until representatives of broadcasting companies rushed to the capitol to make the necessary arrangements that house and senate leaders knew what was happening.

Even after the shock, Democratic chieftains on capitol hill had to wait several hours for confirmation of the plan from the White House secretariat.

TRAVELS 1,535 MILES FOR JURY DUTY

NOWATA, Okla., Jan. 9. (AP)—C. A. Williams of Delaware, Okla., was three days late—but he reported for jury service.

He received his subpoena for jury service at Goodings, Ida., quit his job, jumped into his car and drove 1535 miles to Nowata to report.

The court commended his sense of duty.

REGISTRATION DEPUTIES IN COUNTY NAMED BY BACKS

County Clerk J. M. Backs has announced the list of deputies who will work throughout Orange county in re-registering voters. Registration is necessary for everyone, whether he voted at the last election or not, Mr. Backs explained. The last legislature passed an act requiring Registration of every voter.

Ordinarily, under the permanent registration law, this would not be true, but the legislature is empowered to require new registration when ever it sees fit. The list of registration deputies follow:

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

AL PEARCE and his gang forsake their afternoon session of Fridays to play to a nationwide evening audience. (KFI, 6) The Monday daytime release will continue, however.

The cast remains very much the same as when it first left California for New York. Few predicted success for them. The only marked change came when the outfit moved to Chicago a month or so ago. Pepsodent shoved Harry Sosnik's band into the musical picture.

* * *

"CALLING ALL CARS" is now a Friday regular (KHJ, 7), moving into the spot formerly held by Fred Stark's Inglewood Park series, which in turn is shifted to Tuesday.

Tonight's tale tells of "Death Under the Sahuaro." Chief of Police C. A. Wollard of Arizona city will introduce the presentation.

* * *

THE "Palmolive Beauty Box Theater" will be heard tomorrow night over the Columbia network. (KHJ, 8) Last week's program, to have been its last on NBC, was canceled due to the president's congressional address.

True, the time locally didn't conflict, but did in the east. So when they had to cancel the eastern release, they also scratched out the repeat performance for the west. And that washed up the NBC contract.

Gladys Swarthout, with Jimmy Melton taking the role John Boles plays in the movie, will tabloid "Rose of Rancho," her Paramount effort, tomorrow night.

CONGRESSMAN OF TACOMA SUCCUMBS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Representative Wesley Lloyd, Tacoma, Wash., died early today at his home here.

A Democrat, Lloyd served in both this and the seventy-third congress and was assistant to the Democratic whip for the fifteenth regional district comprising Washington, Oregon and California.

Miss Mabel Lloyd, sister of the representative, said Lloyd came home from the capitol about 6 p. m. yesterday feeling extremely tired. Shortly thereafter, she said he had a hemorrhage and the doctor diagnosed it as stomach ulcers. Because it was necessary to keep the representative quiet he was not taken to a hospital.

Shortly before 6 a. m. today, Miss Lloyd said, the representative began to breathe heavily and when the doctor arrived he was unable to relieve this condition.

NEW YEAR MAGIC SQUARE

Inspired by the new year, a Santa Anan who makes magic squares his hobby delved into his favorite subject and today brought forth the following example.

The numbers run consecutively from 116 to 236. In either square any column, vertical or horizontal, and both of the diagonal columns, add up to 1936. Try it!

The originator asked that only his initials, J.E.D., be used in connection with the magic squares.

KILLED IN COLLISION

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Robert Hanneman, 40, Bakersfield, was instantly killed last night when his auto overturned in Inglewood after colliding with one driven by Mark Whalen of Inglewood. Whalen was booked by Inglewood police on suspicion of manslaughter.

START SCHOOL WORK MONDAY

LA HABRA.—Work is expected to start Monday on two WPA projects here, with improvement of elementary school buildings at the Lincoln and Washington schools planned. Cost of both projects will total nearly $10,000, with about 50 men employed.

At the Washington school tile walls will be replaced with stucco in the kindergarten addition. Cost to the school district will be about $1981 and to WPA about $4806. At the Lincoln school the roof, floors, foundations and firewalls will be strengthened, costing the district $701 and the federal authority $2511.

Santa Ana Realtor Thinks Liquor Problem Is Better Handled Here Than in East

(Editor's note—What of the liquor problem in California? Where are we heading? Back to prohibition, say many. Included in this number are some who are not radical on the subject. Should the control of the business be taken away from the the state board of equalization? Are state-controlled liquor stores desirable? These and scores of other questions are to be answered in a series of articles in The Journal, of which this is the ninth. Opinions will be largely those of Santa Ana and Orange county citizens, expressed on both sides of the controversial liquor question.)

By BOB GUILD

State-controlled liquor stores, fewer licenses and less exploitation is the solution advanced by C. W. Hill, president of the Santa Ana Realty board and head of the Hill and Hill Insurance Company, for the liquor problem in California.

"However," says Mr. Hill, "people who say the situation in California is the worst yet, evidently have not seen places where it is really bad.

Problem in East

"Chicago, New York, a number of places in the East have considerably more of a problem in handling the liquor question than we do. It is my belief that they do not even try to handle it there."

"Here," he continued, "in spite of the fact that the retailing of liquor is almost haphazard, there is not nearly as much trouble or as much open drinking."

Mr. Hill moved to Santa Ana from Kansas a little more than a year ago. His experiences with the state liquor store system in some Middle-west states and elsewhere taught him its advantages, he said.

Keeps Liquor at Home

"The system tends to keep liquor within the home, and at the same time tends to decrease the amount of liquor consumed," he contends. "The license allowed by the state specifies the amount that can be purchased within a month's time, and in addition no effort is made locally to promote liquor sales."

Enforcement of liquor regulations, he said, is strictly a local problem, and should be considered as such. It is his opinion that the enforcement agency necessarily should be conversant with local conditions.

No Profit by System

Clyde Hill, son and business partner of Mr. Hill, seconded his father's opinions.

"State controlled liquor stores," he said, "would be operated without profit, and would eliminate a step in the handling of liquor.

"This would put a better type of liquor on the market at a lower price and enable the person who's going to be drinking to do it at less expense and at the same time drink better whisky."

This improvement, he added, would be better than it sounded. Less money would be spent on drinking, much bad liquor would be eliminated from the market and conditions generally would be improved.

"It's Over-drinking"

Mr. Hill, junior, believes there is apt to be a confusion of meaning in promiscuously using the word "drinking." A generic term such as that, he says, is apt to cause confusion, as "in the vernacular 'drinking' is apt to mean over-drinking."

"There is no drinking problem," he said, "as far as I can see it. The problem is strictly one of overdrinking, and that is what any regulations aimed at control are trying to curb.

"Anyway, state-owned liquor stores would be a step in the direction people seem to be striving toward."

GRANGE HEADS PLAN PROGRAM

TUSTIN.—County Grange lectures from Anaheim, Garden Grove, Costa Mesa and Tustin met at the home of Mrs. R. A. Schostag here last night and made plans for the coming three months of Grange activity.

Present were Mrs. H. Henning, Anaheim; Mrs. G. A. Luz, Garden Grove; Mrs. G. D. Stevens, Costa Mesa, and Mrs. Schostag, Tustin. Husbands of the women were also present.

The next meeting of the Tustin Grange was set for next Thursday in the Tustin Grammar school.

AWARDED $500 MONTHLY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Ralph Spence, screen writer, must pay his wife $500 a month for her support under a superior court decision on record today. Mrs. Helen May Spence, estimating her husband's income at $100,000 a year, has asked for $1200 monthly.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Raymond Kaminski, 38, fell from a ladder into a vat of boiling water and was fatally burned. The accident occurred in a downtown hotel where Kaminski was employed. His home was in Inglewood.

Out goes turkey— in comes BEEF

Grocery Prices are Effective Thru Sat., Jan. 11

Now is the time to change from rich, sweet foods to more nourishing menus. Plan your meals for beef. Our markets are ready to provide you with savory roasts, steaks and other economical cuts, far above the average in goodness, featured this week in our 4th Annual Farmer-Consumer Beef Campaign.

FREE BEEF CHART
Julia Lee Wright, of our Homemakers' Bureau, has prepared a special pamphlet that lists the various cuts of beef and gives methods of cooking them. Condensed into a convenient chart, the information is accessible for ready reference. Ask for your FREE copy at our nearest market. Come early — the supply is limited.

PRIME RIB ROAST Per Pound 23c
Standing roast. The first five fancy ribs, cut from finest quality grain-fed steer. There's no better oven roast than prime rib. Delicious, hot or cold. (Boneless rolled roast, lb. 28c)

BEEF ROAST BLADE OR SEVEN-BONE CENTER CUTS Per pound 16c
Your choice of blade or seven-bone roast from the center of the chuck of fancy steer beef. Pot roast, exceptionally rich in juices and flavor. We do not sell necks cuts as roasts.

SIRLOIN STEAK Per pound 25c
Ask the market man to cut your steak to order. T-Bone steaks, lb. 30c. Porterhouse, Top Sirloin or Filet Mignonne steaks cut on request. You'll enjoy these prime steer beef steaks.

ROUND STEAK 27c Per pound
Select cuts from round of steer beef. Your choice of round steak, swiss steak or ground round.

FOR A NEW ENGLAND BOILED DINNER CORNED BEEF 11c Per pound
We recommend our Plate Rib Beef. It is economical and nourishing. Serve it with plenty of vegetables. Boneless Rump. Serve with cabbage for a real old-fashioned treat that the whole family will enjoy. Our own make. 22c Per pound

Meat prices available through Sat., Jan. 11.

COSTA MESA —and— GARDEN GROVE

HIGHER TOMATO PRICE SOUGHT

Representatives of the Orange County Vegetable Growers association and tomato cannery officials of the county will meet in a conference on 1936 tomato prices to be held in Los Angeles the early part of next week, it was announced today by Executive Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the county farm bureau.

First of a series of conferences was held in Los Angeles this week, at which representative tomato growers pledged themselves to demand a price increase this year.

Reasons for the requested increase were given as the increased stringency of tomato grading laws, which makes the percentage of loss to growers much greater. In many instances, it was said, returns from the crops were not sufficient to cover operating costs.

Represented at the Los Angeles conference in addition to the canners and Orange county growers will be similar groups from several other southern counties, Mr. Flaherty said.

Orange county contains approximately 6000 acres producing tomatoes, with an average yield of about 60,000 tons annually. Clarence Brown is president of the Orange County Vegetable Growers association.

MAN TO RISK LIFE TO SAVE MOVIE STUDIO $20,000

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10. (AP)—Edgar Anderson, technician at a major movie studio, will risk his life next week in an effort to save his company approximately $20,000.

Anderson will leave here with a loaded airplane and attempt to land the heavy ship on the snow-covered surface of Baldwin Lake, an hour's flight from Salt Lake City. If he is successful, scenes from the film "13 Hours by Air" will be made there. If not, a gigantic "winter" scene will have to be designed here.

And, too, Anderson may be seriously injured in the attempt.

STEELS LEAD TRADING ON MARKET

Some Issues Advance Up To Two Points; Session Steady

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Buying in steels vitalized the stock market today in the early afternoon.

Turnover was moderate, and firmness was the rule throughout the list. Activity stepped up as traders pushed steel issues ahead fractions to 2 points.

Oils, metals and a wide assortment of industrials which forged ahead from the beginning held or increased their gains. A few individual issues advanced 2 to 4 points, including Case, Bethlehem, Crown Cork and U. S. Smelting.

Most gainers ranged from fractions to somewhat better than a point. Among these were U. S. Steel, Youngstown, U. S. Pipe, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Douglas, Anchor Cap, Boeing, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Pure Oil, Standard Oil of California, Westinghouse and International Harvester.

Bonds held steady. Cotton improved, while gains were narrow.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Stocks advanced confidently today in a moderately active market.

Washington developments, including house passage of the bonus and the expected extension of the President's gold powers, were calmly received, although some of the gold mining shares rallied.

Oils and a wide selection of industrials advanced fractions to around 4 points. A number of new highs for several years were registered. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 3,100,000 shares. Closing prices:

HUGE RETURN TO ANAHEIM GROWERS

Growers affiliated with the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association received more than $750,000 during the past year from citrus sales, G. W. Sandilands, manager, reported at the annual growers' meeting held in Anaheim late yesterday.

Mr. Sandilands also reported that the house shipped about 35 per cent more fruit in 1935 than in 1934. No figures of shipping averages were released by Mr. Sandilands.

Action was taken to change the name of the association to "Anaheim Valencia Growers' association," due to the fact that lemons are no longer handled by the house. Members of the board of directors were re-elected for next year, and include P. J. Wiesel, Ernest Borchert, Herman Allgeyer, M. J. Bradley, O. P. Rust, Dr. Lee C. Deming and Joseph Carroll.

Here's good news for rain prognosticators entered in The Journal's two-inch rain contest.

Last night's trace of moisture presaged a heavier fall for tonight and tomorrow, according to official weather forecasts. Word from the United States weather bureau at Los Angeles was to the effect that Southern California is due for a rain beginning some time tonight and extending over the next day.

Frank Lansdown, Santa Ana architect, of 325 Grant street, threw his guessing hat in the ring today with the prediction that the two-inch rain would begin on Jan. 13, at 1:13 p. m. Mr. Lansdown guesses right down to the minute.

Hurry and get your guesses in before the rain begins to fall. There's a new umbrella in it for the person guessing closest to the day and hour it will start.

W. H. Braggs, 915 Bush street, Santa Ana, who guessed last night at 9 o'clock, and Ricardo Lujan, 318 Adams street, Santa Ana, who guessed this morning at 4 o'clock, seemingly fell by the wayside today—unless this moisture turns out to be something after all.

POLL STRIKES NEW DEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—An increased percentage of voters in the Literary Digest's poll were reported today as having registered opposition to President Roosevelt's New Deal.

The Digest said its count shows 1,044,948 of the 1,688,462 votes cast were against the administration's policies. The negative vote, amounting to 61.89 per cent, was 1.42 points larger than its total a week ago.

Representing a total of 531 electoral votes, 36 states are listed in the Digest's tabulation as having majorities opposed to the Roosevelt program. The other 12 are Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia.

The Digest's tabulation includes:

State—	Vote Yes in Support of Roosevelt's Policies	Vote No Against Roosevelt's Policies
Arizona	1,152	1,561
California	56,824	76,023
Nevada	597	765
Oregon	6,895	9,194
Utah	3,440	2,919

Grain Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Late upturns of wheat today resulted in an all-around rise to well above yesterday's closing level.

Offerings became scarce toward the end of the day's dealings. House passage of the bonus bill at Washington appeared to have the effect of making sellers of wheat futures cautious.

Wheat closed firm ¼-⅝c above yesterday's finish, May $1.01⅝-1.01¾; corn ⅜c off to ¼c up, May 60⅝-60¾c; oats unchanged to ¾c higher, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents' advance.

When Johnny Anthony turns up in the little town of Burntwood, no one knows just who he is or where he came from. Alma Whittaker, daughter of Lawson Whittaker, drugstore owner and one of the town's leading citizens, falls in love with him, but Johnny raises the secret of his past as a barrier between them. Alma's father wants her to marry Sig Borndike, who is connected with the local bank. When Sig proposes to her just before leaving on a trip to Chicago, she turns him down but says that, if she should change her mind, she will see him off the next morning. Instead, she plays golf with Johnny. A few hours later, it is discovered that Lawson Whittaker is missing. Alma and Johnny go to the railroad station to see if he had been there to see Sig off.

CHAPTER IV

"But why," Johnny asked, for the tenth time, "did he see Sig Borndike off like that, and then vanish?"

He and Alma had been questioning the agent at the railroad station, and had learned that Lawson Whittaker had spent 20 minutes there with Sig before Sig left for Chicago.

The two men had apparently been expecting someone else, because, just before the train came in, the agent had heard Sig say, "Looks like she isn't coming," and Lawson Whittaker has answered, "She may — at the last minute, Sig."

"Well," Johnny demanded, "what happened then?"

"I was kinda busy," the agent replied, "and didn't hear anything else, but I did see Mr. Borndike get aboard the train. Not Mr. Whittaker, though."

"You're sure you saw Mr. Whittaker after that train left?"

"Sure I did! I spoke to him—said it was a nice day for golf, but he didn't answer. Reckon he didn't hear me or something."

"Did you notice what direction he took when he drove away?"

"No—I didn't notice."

Apparently, that was the last that had been seen of Lawson Whittaker. Alma and Johnny combed the town and its outskirts without uncovering a single clue.

"He just couldn't drop out of sight!" Alma kept repeating. "Someone must have seen him."

But nobody had.

After what seemed an eternity, there came a reply to a wire Alma had sent to Sig on the train:

YOUR FATHER APPARENTLY IN EXCELLENT HEALTH WHEN WE PARTED AT TRAIN THIS MORNING STOP LET ME KNOW IF CAN BE OF ASSISTANCE.

SIG

There seemed nothing to do but stay close to the telephone, and wait — hoping and praying for word from her father.

"He's probably gone on a fishing trip—probably left you a note and it got mislaid," Johnny said comfortingly, but his worried eyes belied the words of encouragement.

"But why—why should he need to go anywhere in such a hurry that he couldn't wait to tell me?" Alma moaned.

Johnny wrenched his gaze away from the suffering in her eyes and stared at the scuffed tips of his golf shoes. Deep in his heart, he knew why. And sooner or later, Alma would need to know.

Johnny had had the first inkling of what was wrong when he had gone back to the drug store alone to question the clerk, Jed Turner, who had been Lawson Whittaker's right-hand man through the years.

"I'm afraid, Mr. Anthony," old Jed had said gloomily. "I've been expecting something like this for months!"

"What do you mean?"

"Mr. Whittaker has been acting queer," Jed had said earnestly, twisting and untwisting his bony fingers.

"In just what way?"

"Well, for one thing, Mr. Anthony, he hasn't been taking any money to the bank for weeks. Lately, he's been putting it all in the safe."

"How do you know that he didn't go to the bank?" Johnny had asked.

"Mr. Borndike prodded him about it one night. It was late, and they had been talking out front, before going up to Mr. Whittaker's. And Mr. Borndike said, 'Business must be getting away from you if you can't make enough to keep up your account!'"

"Did you hear what Mr. Whittaker said to that?"

"No, sir."

Johnny, interrupting his thoughts, now turned to Alma.

"Alma," he said hesitantly, "do you know if your father was in any financial difficulty?"

"Why . . . not that I know of," she answered, knitting her forehead. "Of course, everybody has been hard hit the last few years, but I'm sure father was confident things would turn for the better soon. He has been working on his books a lot at night, and he seemed to have a lot of business to discuss with Sig—who is with the bank, you know—but he never said anything about being in difficulty."

"Did he ever seem short of cash?" Johnny persisted.

"On the contrary. He seemed to have plenty with him always. Only last week he tried to make me take fifty dollars and get a new evening gown. He said jokingly that I ought to get something new to impress Sig with, but—well, I wasn't particularly interested in impressing Sig."

"Wait a minute," Johnny said thoughtfully. "This begins to add up. Was Sig here at the house last night?"

"Why, yes," Alma said. She hesitated a long moment, then said quietly, "He asked me to marry him, Johnny. . . . But I turned him down. When he persisted, I said that, if I changed my mind, I'd see him off this morning."

"You turned him down," Johnny thought, slowly. "And you didn't go to the train to see him off. But your father did. Was he in the habit of going to see Sig off whenever he went away?"

Alma stared at him. "Why . . . no, Johnny! He hadn't ever—before this." And, as Johnny jerked out a package of cigarettes and lighted one nervously, "Why, Johnny? What do you men?"

"I don't know yet," he said slowly, "but I'm going to try to find out!" He rose. "I want you to stick to that telephone, Alma. I may have to communicate with you in a hurry, and we can't risk servants balling things up. I'll be back as soon as I can!"

"Johnny," she whispered shakily, "you don't think . . . kidnapers?"

"Of course not." He gripped her hand firmly, smiled down at her.

Tears filmed Alma's eyes. "You're so sweet to me, Johnny," she said huskily. "I don't know where I'd be, which way I'd turn, if it weren't for you!"

"Stand by," he said gruffly. "I'll call you!"

Alma ran to the door as he strode from the house.

"Take my car, Johnny!"

He slid behind the wheel and roared away down the drive.

Colony of White Squirrels in Laguna Canyon; Pioneer Newsman Re-Tells Old Tale

By JOHN B. JOPLIN

This is undoubtedly one of those "hard-to-believe" yarns. It concerns two incidents which, to say the least, were out of the ordinary. I was correspondent for the Los Angeles Times in 1898, when the events in question took place, and the Los Angeles paper carried my accounts of them.

They backfired on me. In fact, there were several newspapermen in Southern California who doubted my integrity and frankly stated that they were skeptical about my truthfulness. One Los Angeles writer even went so far as to intimate that he would like to know what kind of liquor I had been drinking when I went into Laguna canyon where the two incidents occurred.

I had reputable witnesses with me on both occasions, however, and I was not under any delusions brought about by over-indulgence, if you know what I mean.

Colony of Squirrels

One afternoon the late Arthur H. Lyon, well-known orange orchardist, accompanied me on a tramp through the Laguna canyon. It was in June, 1898. About a quarter of a mile below the big lake in the canyon, we ran onto a colony of squirrels. They were all snow white. In general appearance, they resembled the common garden variety of California ground squirrels, but by some strange prank of nature, they had white fur instead of the ordinary dingy grey. There were about 20 in the colony. We couldn't get close enough to them to see the color of their eyes, but if they were albinos, as we believed them to be, they must have had pink eyes.

Oscar Worting of Laguna Beach later saw this same colony of white squirrels on a number of different occasions. He and I discussed the matter several times.

Cat Sits Down

A couple of months later, a surrey load of us was coming up the canyon from Laguna one afternoon when a small California lion, or puma, trotted through a bunch of cattle and across the road in front of us. When we stopped the buggy, the big cat sat down on his haunches less than 100 yards away. We all got a good look at him. It was one of the times I wished for a gun. I didn't have one with me, but I could easily have killed him.

Mr. Lyon was also with me on this occasion, as were also Mrs. Alton Lang, Los Angeles, who was formerly Miss Pearl Wall, daughter of Dr. W. B. Wall, pioneer Tustin physician, and Mrs. Freeze, sister of Mrs. Serman Stevens of Tustin, and her two sons.

California lions were not particularly unusual in the Laguna hills in those days. The lion's chief diet consisted of deer meat, and in those days deer were plentiful. Later there were several herds of sheep on the Moulton ranch, and lions dined on mutton for awhile.

Rugged hillsides, caves and numerous crevices offered the big cats splendid hiding places. Most of their haunts were hard to find and frequently hard to get to. In the many years I have spent in Orange county's hills hunting, the only lion I ever saw in the open was the one referred to in this "hard-to-believe" yarn.

OIL MEN TALK CURTAILMENT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—Members of a committee of independent oil producers prepared today to answer a call to consider the curtailment of output "before a serious breakdown in the industry occurs."

The committee had suspended activities last August, at which time it was held that overproduction was not occurring in California.

PUBLISHERS TO MEET JAN. 17

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 10 (AP)—Two hundred California publishers will gather here Jan. 17 for their annual three-day convention to discuss trade questions.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam will present achievement awards to publishers designated by a committee of the publishers' association. He will be one of the speakers.

GRIDDER TO WED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—James William Stacy, hefty tackle of the Detroit Lions professional football team, filed notice of intention to wed Alberta Ann Stewart, attractive 19-year-old nurse from Pepeekeo, Hawaii, yesterday. He didn't say when the marriage would take place.

The 30-year record of W. G. McDavitt, Texas vegetable shipper, of sending out the first car of beans each season was maintained this year.

TROJANS, BEARS CLASH TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—University of Southern California and California open the 1936 Pacific coast conference Southern division basketball season here tonight.

Coach Sam Barry, hoping to win the Southern division crown for the fourth straight year, will send Capt. Jack (Breezy) Hupp in at center, Carl Anderson and Wayne Garrison as forwards, and the Veteran Eddie Cram and Sophomore Bobby Dale in the guard positions as the starting Trojan lineup.

California's Nibs Price will use Capt. Ray Olson and Carlton Rathbone at forwards, Chet Carlisle at center, and Bob Herwig and Bob Jensen at guard.

MONDAY'S MAT SHOW DELAYED

Unable to sign any top performers, Promoter Sam Sampson has postponed his weekly Monday night wrestling performance at the Orange County Athletic club, he announced today.

Next mat show will be staged one week from Monday night. Two three-fall main events will bring together popular Sandor Szabo and Dick Daviscourt and Gino Garibaldi and Herb Freeman, new Jewish "meanest man."

BRUINS CHOOSE G. DICKERSON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10. (AP)—George Dickerson, right tackle, is captain of the University of California at Los Angeles football team for 1936.

The husky junior, whose home is here, was elected at the annual lettermens' banquet last night. Sherman Chavoor, center, was awarded an American Legion trophy as the Bruins' "most valuable player" last season. The Joe E. Brown trophy for "most improved player" went to Bill Murphy, quarterback. Remington Olmsted of Pasadena, fullback, received an award for scholarship.

VOTE COMPTON BACK IN LOOP

Compton will be reinstated in the Western division of the Southern California Junior college association in September, as the result of action taken at a league meeting of college officials in Los Angeles yesterday.

The forfeit rule, which has deprived three champions of their titles, also was revoked, and hereafter the league will hold a meeting to select representatives to meet Eastern conference opponents in play-offs.

MRS. ROBINSON WINS AT CLUB

Mrs. L. H. Robinson annexed double honors in Ladies' day golf at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. She won regular competition with a score of 86-8—78, and triumphed in blind-hole play with an 18 for holes 3, 6, 4 and 5.

Other winners were Mrs. Harry Bakre, 90-11—79, and R. H. Weston, 94-12—82, and in blind-hole competition, Mrs. Bakre was second to Mrs. Robinson with a 20.

DON'T ROCK THE BOAT

By C. F. SKIRVIN

WHAT the people of a community are thinking affords a fairly substantial cross-section of what they want, whether it is political, social or economic. And in the general assembly of that thought you can get a substantial forecast of your political or local preference.

The world through scientific progress has changed in many respects our economic perspective, but there still remains in America the firmament of conviction that this is still the land of the free, the home of the brave, and a country where majority rules, and minority is respected.

Aggregate if you want to the failures in our governmental management, we still have on the balance side the best there is in world democracy, the largest measure of freedom known to the civilized world, and a commercial and domestic security that for more than 150 years has been the amazement of the civilized race.

* * *

VIOLENT judicial disturbances, such as invalidations of the NRA and the AAA, create a momentary ripple in our public life, but the rapidity with which America adjusts itself to commercial and political changes is the greatest assurance that we do have a government, elastic in its receptivity and application, which is its ultimate security against adverse suggestions that we change our form of control.

* * *

We are entering upon a presidential year in which there will be offered a varied form of isms and opinions and proposals. It is a good time not to rock the boat. More than that it is important we possess a tolerant attitude toward the political preferences of others, and investigate and appropriate the best thought and the best laws for governmental application. For no nation is better managed than the men who make and enforce the laws.

* * *

AMERICA is founded upon the premises of equality. To each and every man is given the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. It is a violation of that principle when individualism is restricted in its search for the only element in human life that is worth working for and fighting for—happiness. If America has not reached that height, or at least approached it, then the constitutional privilege is an individual responsibility, or an individual failure. We have been given the opportunity. If in our selfish effort we have failed to recognize that the welfare of one is the concern of all, then, as individuals, we have missed the boat. Our forefathers furnished the transportation. It's our failure.

* * *

Perhaps Decatur went too far in his declaration, "right or wrong, my country," but it is better to go "wrong" than fly to ills we know not of. If America will develop within its own initiative and benevolence such improvements in government as the natural progress of society will inevitably indicate, all is well. And are we to admit our inability—as a nation which has world-wide recognition for its intelligence—to solve the economic vexations of our time? No red-blooded, patriotic American will confess to such a failure. What we need in our national life is to recognize that the day of selfishness is passing, and that we do have a responsibility for the other fellow—or getting back to the sacred obligation—we are our brother's keeper. And ill betides any nation which ignores that recognition.

* * *

Either by jurisprudence or brotherly concern—or both—we stand or fall together. It is inconceivable that men elevated to supreme positions in our land, would deliberately ignore rules of law and justice in any decision. Naturally every man has his own opinion and a right to his own opinion, but it is not enforceable only as that opinion aggregates itself into a majority.

It is not a good time for America to get alarmed over court decisions. But it is a good time for America to hold fast to institutions vouchsafing to every man equality in the application of law, and protection in his daily toil. What seems to be adverse to the general welfare will be overcome by cooperative effort applied to productive units in our industrial and agrarian life, and the good old U. S. A. will move along in the even tenor of its way if it keeps the flag floating and the spirit of benevolence the actuating public motive.

* * *

Ours is a government by majority. There must be some source of final adjudication. If it isn't a supreme court, it must be some other court.

Do you prefer the one we have or the one over which Stalin presides?

THE ARTICHOKE RACKET

(From Ventura County Star)

FROM the artichoke fields of San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties to the headquarters of New York gangsters is a long way. And there is something bizarre in the news from New York telling how the mayor of that great city is personally leading a campaign against wealthy thugs who are holding up the dealers and consumers of this California product—a commonplace here, a delicacy in Manhattan.

Yet it is not really a new story. During prohibition California grapes fell into the hands of gangsters in New York and at the New Jersey terminals. And other California fruits—much in demand, limited in supply, have been exploited by monopolists who used guns and blackjacks as their commercial weapons.

Monopoly is probably no worse morally when it is achieved by violence by men of low social standing than when it is accomplished suavely under protection of the law. It just seems uglier.

Thoughts while strolling: Always somehow expect David Warfield to be wearing that "Music Master" cape. The code of the Roaring Forties: "To hell with you, I want mine!" Bob Hague, the Lambs' biggest dinner thrower. John Farrar's galloping walk. Look alikes: Arthur William Brown and Fred Drake. Wish a dressmaker would go berserk some day and list the Ten Worst Dressed Women. For Ripley: Berton Braley has a new hat. Unbelievable true story: A dowager's upper false plate from an overhead box dropped plop into Billy Seeman's hand at a benefit show.

One word description of Conde Nast: Glossy. Einstein, hatless, window shopping. No. 1 in dignified names: Harrison Gray Fiske. Something totsy in Rialto modesty: George S. Kaufman refusing the label: "A George S. Kaufman Production." Cutest of the kid drawings—Grace Drayton's.

Add Romeos without clothes style: Rudy Valle. Nobody has taken Otto Kahn's place as the debonaire patron of the arts. One could adjust a tie in Kay Brush's mirrory coiffure. Bob Wildhack, the artist, who came back from the tomb to make a nation laugh with his comic snoring.

Banquet novelty: Harry Hershfield telling an Irish story. Wish Fanny Hurst would go back to those flaming red gowns. Be fun to be at the ringside in a spat between Dorothy Parker and Lois Long. A loose wild-eyed steer in Fiftieth-first street. Everything else has happened to me. Might as well be hooked by a steer.

Mayor La Guardia's Sundays at home are usually spent in the kitchen. His honor likes to cook for relaxation and is not a novice. He is especially adept preparing spaghetti and a tasty meat sauce that goes with it. He's also no dub at chili. And he can fashion pop-overs as light as a feather. Cooking has been a diversion of many famous men—Bob Davis, Irvin Cobb, Joseph Urban and A. L. Erlanger to name a few.

Charles Dana Gibson does not return to New York for the winter with the usual migrations. Sometimes he does not round in until mid-winter. His many gabled summer home is near Dark Harbor in Maine, a serene haven called "Indian Landing" on the island Seven Hundred Acres. For several seasons the master of black and white has been painting people and scenes along the rocky coast.

A group of grade A artists—Flagg, Brown, Patterson, etc.—were recently judges at a contest to determine the most beautiful eyes in New York. The contestants were show girls from current hits. The affair floriated in a large drug store on Broadway and the judges were perched on a high platform in the manner of sideshow freaks. A wag in the crowd called up: "Where are you boys playing next week?" And Flagg, without glancing from a beautiful pair of eyes, replied: "United Cigar stores and if we make good we get a week in a Fifth avenue Saks' window."

The hodge podge block on West Sixty-seventh street between Central park west and Columbus avenue probably houses more writers and artists than any similar stretch in even the Paris Latin quarter. Both sides of the street are lined with imposing studio buildings. Howard Chandler, Christy, F. R. Gruger, W. T. Benda, Bob Brinkerhoff, Leon Gordon, Walter Biggs, to name a few. On one side of the street, squeezed in between the buildings, is a frame two-story shack, housing an ancient blacksmith shop, still operating so the zing of the anvil is heard daily. On the opposite side is an aromatic lumber yard with a jerry-built office. Flower boxes and a trellis are against it and in the summer geraniums and morning glories bloom. The hotel des Artistes also occupies a corner site.

The most successful photographic model—I'm fairly popping with art news today—is Margaret Horan. She hires a car by the day to dash from one studio to another. In the morning, leaving home, she carries a suit case of costumes she will wear and with blinds down often makes quick changes from sports outfit to evening gown enroute.

May Wilson Preston and Mrs. Arthur William Brown recently voyaged to Florida by boat and ran into a coastal storm that was a beaut. As they floundered in their berths the first night Mrs. Preston inquired wanly: "Do you know what I'm going to eat for breakfast?" Mrs. Brown murmured "NO" and shivered at the thought. "Our return tickets," sighed Mrs. Preston.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Roosevelt and Senator Bill Borah have entered into a solemn agreement to take each other for a ride.

It happened this way: Borah sat one seat from the President at a recent White House dinner. Roosevelt leaned over and joshed the senator about his campaign.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, senator," said Roosevelt. "If you are elected President you take me for a ride on the Potomac (the new Presidential yacht). If I am re-elected I promise to take you on a ride."

"It's a deal, Mr. President," said Borah, "only don't forget your part of the bargain."

* * *

NO WALK-OUT

Senator Bill Borah's flourishing presidential boom is headed for stormy weather. Far from being dismayed by the seeming tidal wave of rank-and-file enthusiasm for Borah, stand pat Republican leaders are planning to give him a determined battle in every important primary.

At a secret conference held in New York last week, a complete list was drawn up of "favorite son" candidates who could be put into the field with a fair chance against Borah.

In other words, if Borah can't be licked outright, the aim will be to split the delegation, taking as many from him as can be won. By this strategy the anti-Borahites, in addition to holding down his popular support, would be in a position to "bore from within" his delegations during the convention.

In past conventions this boring has frequently been successful. Delegates come to a convention pledged to a certain candidate and wind up voting for someone else.

Under the projected plan, Borah would be opposed in New York state by Representative James Wadsworth, in New Jersey by Governor Hoffman, in Maryland by Governor Nice, and in Pennsylvania by ex-Senator David Reed.

Wadsworth, incidentally, is being privately favored by those around Gov. Alf Landon. Coming from New York, a conservative, a militant wet in contrast to the dry Kansan, they view Wadsworth as a perfect vice presidential running-mate on a Landon ticket.

It is even reported that feelers have been put out to Wadsworth and that he has indicated approval.

MUCH NICER

Senator Carter Glass and his one-time Virginia colleague, Claude Swanson, now secretary of the navy, were reminiscing about campaign experiences.

"I haven't had any real opposition for a long time," said Glass, who is up for re-election this year. "If a real fight should develop against me I might find myself in a bad way. So few of my people know me personally."

"Well, I had both kinds of election contests," said Swanson, "with opposition and without it. There is no question that a strong opponent will make you get around and become acquainted, but I must say I liked it a lot better when the running was easy."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Thousands of letters are pouring in on the veterans administration wanting information on how to secure the bonus payment. Veterans are being advised NOT to come to Washington but to interview local veterans administration or treasury officials. The treasury, incidentally, is expected to handle the job of paying off the ex-soldiers. . . . There are still several old-time barbers in Washington who apply leeches to black eyes. They obtain their leeches from one of the capital's oldest pet stores. Years ago it used to do a thriving business in that line. . . . The smallest loan made by the RFC was one of $2 to Amos 'n' Andy. It has not been repaid, according to Chairman Jesse Jones, who says jokingly that he is considering taking "legal steps." The RFC's largest loan to one borrower was $174,000,000 to the First National Bank of Detroit, a closed institution.

NEW WATER PROBLEM

(Redlands Facts)

More than a thousand miners inches of water has been tapped by the boring of the San Jacinto mountain tunnel, water that is not wanted by the engineers making the bore, and a fact that greatly alarms adjacent property owners. The tunnel is meant for the conducting of Colorado river water. The water encountered deep within the mountain is a serious hindrance to tunnel operations, and all property owners of the region fear that its wastage will mean draining of their lands from available water storage. Metropolitan Water District officials have promised their best efforts in sealing off this unexpected supply. An ironic fact is that the Hemet and San Jacinto valleys would probably have paid a good deal for such a stream. It now amounts to about as much as is flowing from the upper Santa Ana canyon above Mentone, enough to have brought the three counties of San Bernardino, Riverside, and Orange to legal war. Hemet and San Jacinto do not wish to see their natural reservoirs dumped into the old San Jacinto river bed and wasted. Redlands water experts have been called into consultation to advise on the problem, but some rather delicate questions are involved. Having found the water deep within the mountains, to whom does it belong, and can the adjacent lands prove damage?

TRIPLE A DECISION

Editor The Journal: I read with a great deal of interest your editorial on the front page of the Santa Ana Journal of January 7, answering the question "IS THE UNITED STATES A NATION?" My answer does not agree with yours. It is my opinion that a few more decisions such as the supreme court rendered on the Triple A will probably teach the administration that this country is working under a constitution that is not merely a jumble of words.

Surely the decision was a blow to certain classes. It threw a monkey wrench into the machinery. However, while the AAA benefited a certain class it most certainly was a burden on others. Destroying hogs so that the farmer might get a greater return for those he raised perhaps was beneficial, temporarilly at least, but at the same time it made the price of bacon so high that another class had to stop eating it.

You bring up the fact that a year ago the supreme court declared the codes under the NRA unconstitutional. That too appeared to some to be a death blow. But if I read business statistics aright there has been a greater uptrend in business since that decision than at any time since the present administration has been in power.

Unquestionably the constitution provides that taxes may be levied and money appropriated for the general welfare of the United States. But it does not say that one class shall be burdened for the benefit of another, or does it say that a farmer must burn up his excess crop when he would rather raise it and give it away to aleviate suffering and want, as some farmers in the middle west have been forced to do during the past year.

I do not agree that the decisions of the supreme court have denied the "United States effective sovereignty as a nation." They have denied the right of any man or group of men to assume dictatorial powers. They have denied the federal government the right to assume powers and privileges that rightfully belong to the states. Perhaps some foreign governments are privileged to assume such powers, but who wants to live under them. Our form of government has stood the test longer than most of the rest. Surely Great Britain has changed since 1776, as has Russia, Germany, France, Spain, Italy and many of the rest. Still I believe, even with our "old government," we have nothing to be ashamed of when living conditions and privileges, even for the poorest in this country, are compared with those of the foreign nations. Certainly the farmers in this country drive more automobiles, have more modern homes and live in finer style in every respect in this county than they know anything about over seas.

I am for the farmer from start to finish. In many respects he has not been accorded a square deal. However I believe every truly American farmer wants his rights and protection without violating the constitution to get them. I am convinced there are ways, and that those ways will be worked out, whereby the farmer will get his just due, and that constitutionally.

We are fortunate in having a supreme court to help us keep on an even keel when the tempest is raging. A group of non-partisan peers that cannot be swayed by mad hysteria. I am glad we have a court of last resort who would tell a central group "nothing doing" if they should try to tell me just what teeth I could fill and what filling material to use, or who could tell you just what news you could or could not print. If a group of inexperienced professors should try to put through such laws, you and I would clamor the loudest and be glad we have "these old gentlemen" on the supreme bench to look out for our constitutional rights.

This country has been through trials and tribulations before and we have always come out on top in the end without abrogating that "grand old document." We certainly can do it again. I believe our system is wrong in not having misfit laws declared unconstitutional before being put into effect, but I do resent the attitude of crying "fake" at a supreme court whose only function is to see that all the people are accorded their constitutional rights, if such decision does not meet with our personal approval.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

AAA Death Makes Martyrs of New Dealers

An old fable tells how a querulous hen was startled by a leaf falling from a tree and striking her on the head. "Yow," she yelled, "the sky is falling," and rushed squawking through the farmyard with the direful news.

Soon all the feathered folks took up the story and everybody was in a pother about what to do, what to do. There was much gabbling and clucking and quacking, and no end of doleful confusion.

* * *

Newspaper headlines and editorial screeds these days remind us of the clamor that the sky is falling. The momentous decision of the supreme court has knocked them a little silly. A few black-robed old justices have dropped leaflets among jittery newsmongers and the most dolorous squeals have been forthcoming.

American agriculture, mainstay of our economic life, will go to pot and the yawning depression will drag the entire national fabric to new low depths of helpless despair.

* * *

We are told that administration leaders are stunned; that farmers are stunned; that all the New Dealers are stunned. Everybody is stunned, dazed, groping in groggy darkness, trying to see where the storm hit, and if anything remains worth saving.

Those solemn old justices sure pack a wallop in their upper-cuts and body-blows.

* * *

Maybe it will be just as well to wait a bit and see what happens. Perhaps the damage isn't so dreadful after all. Sometimes tornadoes clear out a lot of rubbish, preparing the ground for surer foundations.

There was some indication last spring, when the NRA went down before the blast, that the administration felt not a little relief to be rid of a critter that was fast getting out of control. The defunct AAA may cause not a few sighs of comfort that it quit while still going strong.

Anyhow, the New Dealers have all the advantage of martyrdom, and what better platform is needed during an election year?

* * *

Since the constitution is an instrument of "checks and balances" it is interesting to see the reaction of those who are checked by it and how hard it is for them to keep their balance.

Of course, when the referee doesn't give our side a square deal we yell for his extinction and bemoan the tyranny of the rules. What are rules if they stand in the way?

Older residents will remember Everett C. Blakemore, who formerly resided in Tustin. Everett has been for the past several years living near Winchester. They brought Everett back to us a few days ago, and amid the tears of friends and sorrow of neighbors left him at Fairhaven. But the countryside came with him with its sincere friendship, and refused to leave until the last earthly affection was bestowed. The sanctuary of sorrow meant something to them. They had an abiding respect and love for him. Mankind stops at the grave. It can go that far, but often fails to do so. When it does it shines like an exceptional case, especially when a 75-mile journey is involved. Death has its victory when such affection is bestowed.
